Fostering Questions & Answers

What is fostering?

Fostering is a way of offering a home to children who, for a variety of reasons, are unable to live with their birth families. Unlike adoption, foster children do not become the full legal responsibility of their foster carers. Foster care placements can last from a few weeks to a few years but, in a minority of cases, children may need fostering until they grow up.

Who can foster?

Foster carers come from all walks of life – carers can be married or single, living with a partner, gay or straight, homeowners or renting. There is no upper age bracket. You do not need to have had children of your own but you will need some experience of working or engaging with children or young people.

What do I need to foster?

Unless you are fostering babies up to their second birthday, you will need a spare bedroom to be able to care for a child in your own home. No specific qualifications are required but you will need the right personal qualities and skills to be able to care for a child who has had a difficult start in life. You will also need the time to attend training, meetings and to be available before and after school and in the holidays. You will need to enjoy spending time with children.

What are the benefits of fostering?

Fostering isn't always easy but foster carers tell us that it is very rewarding. Being able to change a child's life for the better gives carers a tremendous amount of satisfaction. All carers receive excellent full training in their local area and a package of fees and generous allowances. Foster carers are never expected to 'go it alone' and are always supported by a team of professionals. We hold regular training and networking events near to you so you can meet other local foster carers.

How can I find out more?

Disabled teenager to help cancer victims

A TEENAGER left disabled by an accident while she was practising as a cheerleader has decided to cut off her hair to raise money for two causes close to her heart.

Remi Burton, 14, of Tilbury Mead, Harlow, sustained a back injury while moving from a handstand to the crab position at cheerleading practice. It has left her unable to walk and she has to be fed through a tube.

She is now undergoing rehabilitation and intensive physiotherapy at the University College Hospital, London.

It was while she was in hospital that she decided she wanted to shave her head to raise money for Cancer Research UK and donate her locks to The Princess Trust, which makes wigs for youngsters who lose their own hair while undergoing treatment for the disease.

Remi, a Year 10 student at Passmores Academy, had been cheerleading for about a year before her accident in May 2013.

"I have been in and out of hospital since my accident and recently I have seen a lot of people my age on the cancer side of the ward who have lost their hair," she said. "It just pushed me to want to do it."

"My mum also had cancer in the past and my friend who is only three has leukaemia so it's an important cause for me. I want to raise money so people like her have a chance at a better life."

She added: "At first I decided to cut a ponytail off and just keep my hair short, but then I thought the only reason I was doing it short is because I was embarrassed. I was thinking, people that have to go through these things like cancer do not have a choice about how much hair they lose."

"I have been saying I wanted to do something like this since before the accident. I'm really nervous. The last time I had it cut short I was six and I hated it."

Remi, who is no stranger to fundraising having taken part in charity car washes and the Race for Life before her accident, is hoping to raise at least £1,000.

"Friends and family have been

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertssexnews.co.uk donating and I've raised around £645 so far. I'm really pleased."

Remi's mother, Nicola, 40, said: "I'm very proud of her but really scared as it's a massive change. She's wanted to do this for ages and she's at that point where she's well enough to go through with it."

"Her hair is so long - unbelievably long - and she's really focused on doing this, donating her hair and raising money."

"Remi is a patient at UCH and they have a rehab unit. That ward is split between teenage cancer patients and patients like Remi and she said if she can fundraise for anyone she wanted to do it for Cancer Research."

Remi will be having her head shaved next Saturday (September 27). To sponsor her, visit www.justgiving.com/Remi-Burton.

Well-wishers swamp Daisy with cards as she turns 101

HUNDREDS of greetings cards arrived at a care home in Harlow this week when one of the residents celebrated her 101st birthday.

Daisy Staines was treated to a performance by Elvis impersonator Alan Wilcox as she celebrated her big day with staff and fellow residents at Ashlyn Care Home in Vicarage Wood. Harlow Council chairman Ian Beckett presented her with flowers and started a rendition of Daisy, Daisy which was sung by residents and staff.

Activities co-ordinator Tess Harvey decided to do something special for the home's eldest resident.

With the help of local groups and residents including Tesco community champion Diane Harper, businessman Tony Lake and Hertford Regional College's health and social care students, Daisy received more than 300 birthday cards from well-wishers.

Daisy was born in Tottenham in 1913 and married husband Fred in 1939. He died in 1980.

A keen ballroom dancer in her youth, she still enjoys dance and music.

Senior healthcare assistant Eve Wilson said: "Daisy is magical; she is always laughing and always joking. She loves dancing and music and absolutely adores life.

"She's just a very happy person who loves life."

Daisy, who moved to Ashlyn Care Home four years ago, had three brothers, one of whom - Fred - passed away at the age of 103.

Hundreds sign web petition over illegal traveller camps

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has launched an online petition in a bid to tackle the on-going problem with illegal traveller encampments in the town.

He is calling for Essex Police, Harlow Council, Essex County Council and Harlow Trade Union Council to take action and tackle the problem, which has so far cost taxpayers £41,000.

The petition, which was launched on Friday, has already been signed by almost 400 people.

It reads: "Since October last year, there have been multiple cases of illegal traveller sites springing up around Harlow resulting in mess and anti-social behaviour.

"This petition therefore asks that those individuals responsible for causing damage should be pursued by Harlow Council and forced to compensate those affected."

The petition calls on Essex Police to make more regular use of section 61 notices which allow illegal encampments to be moved on quickly when there is either anti-social behaviour or six or more vehicles present on a site.

It reads: "Although the police have used these, they have been issued inconsistently and often with delay."

It also asks that all Harlow councillors and Harlow TUC condemn the illegal sites, due to the misery they cause to local residents.

Essex Police say they have served travellers with section 61 notices on eight occasions between June and this month.

Mr Halfon also hit out at Harlow Council for not applying to the Government's Traveller Pitch Funding Programme which helps to meet the needs of the traveller community as well as prevent illegal encampments from being set up.

But Harlow Council leader Jon Clempner hit

Current sites in the town

>>Northbrooks House on land owned by Essex County Council

Five caravans previously on land adjacent to Aylets Field and Latton Bush Centre have now moved to land at Northbrooks House.

>>Southern Way/Katherine's Way on land owned by Harlow Council
Six caravans at Southern Way/Katherine's roundabout.

>>Katherine's Way (two encampments) on land owned by Essex County Council

A group of 11 caravans on one site and a further 10 caravans on another. They on separate parcels of land either side of the road.

(Figures accurate at the time of going to press) back at the claims and said the funding programme was no longer operating.

"I know Mr Halfon is aware - as he was copied into a letter from the Homes and Communities Agency on this subject - that this funding programme is closed.

"He will also be aware that the Fern Hill traveller site - for which presumably he would wish funding for - is owned and managed by Essex County Council, which for some reason he doesn't mention in his petition."

In a letter to Mr Halfon from the Homes and Communities Agency, it states that bidding for the programme "is expected to be reopened" later this year.

Cllr Clempner added: "I, of course, condemn anyone, traveller or not, who causes criminal damage, is involved in fly-tipping, anti-social behaviour, intimidation of local residents, or any other criminal activity.

"The petition asks that Harlow Council pursue the individuals responsible. I can assure Mr Halfon and Star readers that the council will always pursue perpetrators, or assist the police if it is a criminal matter, where there is specific evidence to identify the individual or individuals responsible and supports putting a case to the court."

He said Mr Halfon had previously recognised that Harlow Council is doing all it can.

"As a Harlow resident that lives very close to a number of the locations where unauthorised and illegal sites have sprung up, I share the anger and frustration of the vast majority of law-abiding residents," Cllr Clempner added.

"The council is however pursuing every possible legal avenue to resolve the situation, and in the meantime is taking what action it can. I hope Mr Halfon continues to recognise the work that Harlow Council is doing, and support fairness for everyone."

Harlow TUC said they will not condemn unauthorised traveller encampments "because it would entail condemning the victims of discrimination."

Secretary David Forman said: "Instead we prefer to look at the root causes and history of today's Traveller issue and what would be a viable solution."

READERS LETTERS

Consequences of a lack of leadership and vision

SIR I was interested to read in last week's Star the results of the town survey. In a town with areas with populations that are very different, a random survey of this nature with only a 24.45 per cent return rate from 2,000 cannot be regarded as statistically significant or a reliable measure to determine future development or policies.

Apart from the difficulties associated with a random selection being representative, a survey such as this is backwards-looking, asking people to comment on an agenda that does not provide a vision or model of what could be.

Another problem is that 489 individuals from the random survey plus the 540 individuals from the open survey represent only 1.25 per cent of the town's 82,000 population. Hardly representative.

A further objection is that the very nature of such a survey means those who respond are a self-selective group and the kind of people who respond to surveys. They therefore reflect a particular view of the world that in no way can be said to represent the views of the local population.

It is pleasing to see the comment that there will be no rush into short-term decisions. Hopefully it will give the council time to join the dots; by this I mean that by examining the high/low scoring list one cannot help but be struck by the links between the high support issues and the low support activities.

For example, high scorers like regenerating the town, combating anti-social behaviour and economic development can be directly linked to low scorers that need to be there to actually provide the services that ensure the delivery of the high scoring issues.

The voluntary and charity sectors are best placed to help deliver sport and leisure, both of which are crucial in provisions that actually divert people away from anti-social behaviour, especially the young who need support that can be delivered with the help of engagement as citizens in society - one of the main functions of the youth council.

The Playhouse and Town Park could be at the centre of the development of leisure activities, festivals and tourism that will assist economic development.

Harlow does have facilities which have potential - the shopping centre, Pets' Corner, the river, the cycle tracks, the theatre, the sports and study centres, nature reserves, a strong musical tradition, dance and theatre schools, The Square, sculpture and art, The Gibberd Garden, the Town Park, lakes, fishing plus good road and rail links to London.

Our facilities once included a ski slope and velodrome; look how these sports now flourish yet these were swept away rather than being developed and promoted. Our once-flourishing market square now has some large flowerpots and an unused play area. How could this ever be viewed as a successful development?

Town leaders simply gave up and displayed a distinct lack of vision. The survey is simply an indicator that the mind-set of the council has not changed. Even when we put on events that people from surrounding villages and towns flock to - like the firework display and concerts in the park - we simply give them away and charge not a penny. Why? It seems crazy.

This photo of the sunset over Latton Common in Harlow was taken by Chelsie Cable, of Chapel Fields. If you have taken a photo in or around the town which you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

One only has to look at Cheltenham, where facilities weren't that brilliant, to see what can be done when a town council and the charity and business sectors get together with some self-belief and entrepreneurial spirit. Large and small festivals of many different kinds run throughout the year and have greatly enriched the town.

The council must start to provide the leadership to develop and use the facilities the town has or we will continue the stagnant cycle that has gone on for years and some of the best jewels we have like The Playhouse, the paddling pools and Pets' Corner will be picked off and lost till we have nothing special left at all.

We need to be outward-looking to attract and bring trade and visitors, jobs and prosperity into the town. This can't be done if the council is always looking to shut things down.

Edward Vine
Fenton Grange, Harlow

Ridiculous response to question about spending

SIR In last week's front page article about the council's budget consultation, one resident is quoted as saying: "Why should taxpayers with no interest in the arts pay their taxes to benefit those who do?"

Although to some this would sound a logical comment to make, others would realise just how ridiculous it is. It is also somewhat naive for the council to provide it as a sample comment.

I can hear people without children asking why should their taxes go to paddling pools or Pets' Corner, or those without dogs why their taxes should go to providing dog waste bins, or those who lead a sedentary life asking why they should pay anything towards the Harlow Leisurezone.

Whatever was the council thinking?

Michael Hardware
Great Brays, Harlow

Thank you for providing us with paddling pools

SIR I would like to thank Harlow Council for providing the use of the paddling pools around Harlow during the school holidays.

I have four grandchildren and we took advantage of all the pools. We had lifeguards to look out for us all day.

We have a wonderful Town Park for everyone to use, Pets' Corner and an adventure playground. We are very lucky in Harlow.

Thank you from one happy grandmother.
A. Wells
Guildfords, Harlow

Here's proof that honesty is not a thing of the past

SIR I went out shopping on my disability scooter to Bush Fair and Staple Tye. Within minutes of arriving back home I discovered I had lost my card wallet.

I presumed I had lost it at the Staple Tye shops and so I immediately telephoned one of my banks to cancel my cards.

I had just cancelled one card and was still talking to the bank when there was a knock on my door. My daughter shouted that the caller had returned my card wallet, which was just in time to stop the cancellation.

I was so taken aback I forgot to ask the finder for his name. I offered him some sort of reward which he declined. It's quite refreshing these days to find such an honest person and so quickly.

He had found my wallet on the crossing on Tillwicks Road near to the Esso petrol station. It is very obvious to me why I had lost it - I had failed to zip up my pocket and the diabolically rough ride I suffer on the very bad concrete footpaths had caused the it to shake and rise up in my pocket until it dropped out when I crossed the final jolt getting onto the crossing.

I wish to extend my profound thanks and would ask him to contact me again

G. Kelk
Little Brays, Harlow

Clamp down on shoppers who block Stow garages

SIR With regards to the article about the council clamping down on parking at garages (Star, September 11), I have rented a garage at The Stow for years.

I was amazed to read that garage tenants were being told not to park on their garage forecourts. Here at The Stow shopkeepers and shoppers park their vehicles across the entrance to the garage block and also park in front of garages as well.

After several letters and telephone calls to the garage team over the years, they come back with the response they have no powers to remove the offending vehicles.

It now appears they do have powers to remove or clamp vehicles but only to their own garage tenants. Come on, Harlow Council, clamp or remove these vehicles that do not pay to park on council property.

N. Whitehouse
Orchard Croft, Harlow

I was just pointing out the irony of our flag's history

SIR The debate on these pages regarding the suitability of the St George flag being flown began when Jack Etman accused Harlow Council of being anti-English for not flying it above the Civic Centre.

He is correct when he says that although the St George flag was forced upon us by an invading army, it is our recognised national flag today like it or not.

However, here's some food for thought - if we had lost the Second World War a swastika flag would now be flying over the Civic Centre.

I wonder whether in hundreds of years chaps like Mr Etman would say that it doesn't matter why it's our flag, it just is so get behind it.

I'm not missing the point, Mr Etman, just pointing out the irony.

Robert Johnson
Harlow

Roundabout work has not solved peak hour tailbacks

SIR After spending millions of pounds and causing a year of motoring chaos, the newly completed Burnt Mill roundabout is an eyesore.

The centre of the roundabout is a mass of 3ft-high weeds, so what an impression of Harlow it must give to motorists arriving from the A14. There is only one word to describe it - disgusting!

Also, visit that roundabout during peak times and you will see what a waste of time and money it has been. Traffic is still queuing to the town centre and to Pinnacles, and is gridlocked going around the roundabout because of bus lanes, a pedestrian crossing on the roundabout, a bus stop with no pull in and a slip road from Pinnacles which is of no use at all.

I suppose we now have to look forward to another waste of time and money at the Clock Tower roundabout.

There is only one answer to these problems - a duel carriageway.

Working Hard For Harlow

STOP ILLEGAL ENCAMPMENTS!

I have been working hard to try and address the illegal Traveller encampments in Harlow.

Although I personally do not have the power to move the illegal sites, I am doing everything I can to help local residents and see that this issue is resolved.

I have launched an online petition for residents to sign, calling for more robust action from Essex Police and other local authorities.

Visit www.roberthalfonblog.com/2014/09/17/update-and-petition-on-illegal-traveller-encampments to learn more and sign the petition!

Shop front damaged by truck in ram raid

RAM raiders attempted to smash their way into a newly-opened shop in Harlow on Monday.

The vehicle hit the front of the Spar store in Clifton Hatch in an attempt to steal the cash till but failed to do so.

Police were contacted shortly before 12.15am with reports that a gold Suzuki pick-up truck had crashed into the front of the premises.

The vehicle's occupants entered and attempted to remove the till but were unsuccessful.

The three occupants, all men wearing dark clothing, then drove off in what is believed to be a black Audi Q7.

Anyone with any information is asked to contact police at Harlow on 101.

Heartbreak over closure of hotel

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertssexnews.co.uk

STAFF and guests have been left reeling after the shock closure of one of Harlow's oldest hotels.

Around 30 jobs will be lost following the closure of the Swallow Churchgate Hotel, as well as untold disruption caused for bookings, including major events and weddings.

Hotel staff, many of whom live at the landmark 85-bed-room three star hotel in Old Harlow, have been told they must pack up and leave by today (Thursday).

Many of the staff - including front desk, kitchen, housekeeping, maintenance and porters - have worked at the hotel for several years.

Assistant health club manager, Chris Baines, 33, said: "We've been told nothing. Some of us have been there for 20 years or more, one at least 25 years."

"No-one is telling us anything. It's even worse for the people who live on site as they're being made homeless. They just told us it was shutting and that's it. It's disgusting."

Sue Hull and partner Levi Webb were due to marry at the venue tomorrow (Friday).

Sue, of Potter Street, said: "I was having a make-up trial when they called to tell me it was cancelled."

The couple feared their wedding would not go ahead, but luckily the Park Inn Radisson Harlow stepped in.

ped in.

Sue said: "We had to tell everyone that we might not have a wedding or we might."

She called her 70 guests to tell them of the change as well as reapply to the registrar at an additional cost.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon has met with staff after learning of the closure. He has also written to administrators Deloitte to express his "distress" at the handling of the situation.

He said: "I am deeply disappointed by the events at the Churchgate Hotel, what has occurred is shocking."

"After visiting the hotel on Tuesday and meeting with a third of the staff, it was very distressing to learn that they have had little communication or advice from the administrators, as a result of which they are in a state of uncomfortable distress.

"This is no way to treat loyal staff, some of whom have served the hotel for 26 years or more."

"Today I am calling for Deloitte's to urgently appraise the staff of what is happening to the hotel, what their rights are, and full details regarding their redundancy payments."

The Star asked Deloitte to comment but they had not responded by the time we went to press.

Jobs at risk as firms go into administration

RILEYS Sports' Bars and phone retailer Phones 4U, both of which have premises in Harlow, have gone into administration.

Deloitte has been appointed as administrator of Rileys and has closed 15 venues immediately, at the cost of 104 jobs, along with another 20 at the Milton Keynes head office.

The remaining sites, which include the Harlow bar, will continue to trade while the administrators explore options for the business.

Phones 4U, which is owned by private equity firm BC Partners, closed its 550 stores on Monday.

The store has a branch in the Harvey Centre, Harlow, and another inside Currys/PC World at Queensgate Retail Park, Harlow.

The firm is waiting for a decision from its administrators to see whether it can continue to trade.

Shy teenager raped girl, 17, as she was sleeping after party

A SHY teenager who raped a 17-year-old girl while she was asleep after a party at her home in Harlow has been given a custodial sentence.

The youth, who is now 16 but cannot be identified for legal reasons, appeared at Chelmsford Magistrates' Court yesterday (Wednesday) for sentence after admitting a charge of rape on August 9 last year.

The teenager, who was handcuffed and wearing a light grey suit and tie, showed no expression as he was led from the dock after receiving a two-year detention and training order.

He must also sign the sex offenders register for five years and was made the subject of a restraining order banning him from having any contact with the victim for five years.

District judge John Woollard said: "This is one of the most serious offences anyone can commit. You had sexual intercourse with a woman, you invaded her body space in a most personal and private manner."

"You did it in a way which was not exactly pre-meditated but something you were anxious to achieve in one way or another."

Prosecutor Frances Coles-Harrington said the rape took place when the parents of the victim were away and her uncle had agreed she could have some friends around.

She said the girl was "very drunk" and went

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk to bed between 10-11pm, by which time a lot of people had left.

Miss Coles-Harrington continued: "She remembers waking up from her sleep between 2-3am and somebody was on top of her having sex. She described it as hurting a lot."

"She didn't know who it was at first. She describes being very scared and just lying there pretending to be asleep."

The prosecutor said that afterwards the youth lay behind her fondling her breasts. She was crying and got up. A friend downstairs heard her sobbing and she told him the defendant had just had sex with her while she was asleep.

When he was arrested the youth initially denied rape but the court was told forensic examination identified his DNA and body fluids on the girl.

Michael Edmunds, representing the youth, said: "He is shy and described as someone overweight at the time. He was clearly someone socially on the periphery of things."

"He had never been to a party before and had only drunk alcohol on two occasions before. He clearly imbibed a huge quantity of alcohol which compromised his judgement."

WORK is under way to create a tiered garden for patients at St Clare Hospital after it secured a £49,000 grant from the Big Lottery Fund.

Thousands of people voted for the project when it was shortlisted in the People's Millions competition on ITV last November.

The work, which is being carried out by Harlow-based landscapers The Whitelaw Brothers, started last week and is expected to take about two months to complete.

Elizabeth Palfreema, St Clare's director of fundraising and marketing, said: "It is wonderful work has now started on our 'space to breathe' garden and we can't wait to see it starting to take shape over the coming weeks."

New hospice garden begins to take shape

"We were overwhelmed by the response of the community during the competition. We very much feel that without the public's support this important project would not be possible."

She added: "As well as caring for the physical needs of those with a life-limiting illness, helping to relieve suffering and making them comfortable, we also care for their emotional wellbeing."

"As such, we know the many therapeutic benefits a garden can bring so this project will make a very real difference to the lives of those we support and their loved ones."

The tiered garden will feature raised flowerbeds, a water feature, seating and wheelchair-friendly paving.

Loner guilty of stalking 'more pitiful than evil'

A MAN who admitted stalking a young hospital worker has avoided a jail sentence after being described by his lawyer as "more pitiful than evil".

Neil Collins, 57, of Rectory Wood, Harlow, had been warned at an earlier hearing a prison sentence was one of the options that was being considered when the case was adjourned for reports.

However, when he returned to Chelmsford Magistrates Court on Friday he was given a 12-month community order and ordered to complete 150 hours of unpaid work. He was also made the subject of an indefinite restraining order.

Collins pleaded guilty last month to stalking the woman, who is in her 20s, between January 1 and March 31 this year and to a charge of assault by beating by grabbing her elbow on July 9 this year.

Andrew Clowser, representing Collins, said in mitigation: "He's pitiful more than evil, a lonely man who has lost his parents and misses them and is estranged from his family."

"The incidents were sporadic to begin with and increased towards the end. His arrest, charge and bail conditions stopped his activities there and then."

"He's now back at work as a driver but will lose his job if he goes to prison."

Hospital unveils new A&E unit for children

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

CHILDREN in need of emergency treatment at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital will from this week be looked after in a new department located away from the main A&E unit.

The new service, which has been set up in a separate building next door to A&E, will offer young patients up to the age of 16 a more spacious and bright environment.

"This is very different to where we were based, right in the middle of the A&E department," said lead nurse Bridget Mitchelmore.

"We previously had three cubicles to work in; now we have seven and lots of space and light. It is a lot nicer for the children for us to be separate from the adults' A&E and have a formally dedicated space for them."

Medics in the new department will be able to treat anything from fever and diarrhoea to minor injuries and broken bones.

Building work started in July with the intention of creating more than double the number of assessment and treatment bays, and designated high-dependency bay.

The unit also has space to house new state-of-the-art equipment including monitoring equipment, resuscitation trolley, defibrillator and each cubicle as piped air and oxygen.

Following the opening of the new unit on Monday, the old paediatrics area will be redesigned to expand the minor injuries unit for adult patients.

Kim Gardiner, matron for children's services at PAH, said: "We've worked really hard to create an area which offers children and parents more privacy in a calm, spacious environment."

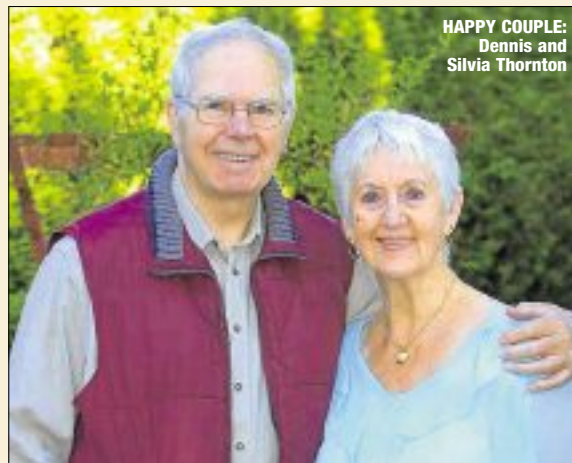

"We hope the layout, child-friendly design, and improved facilities will give patients a far better experience."

Chief nurse professor Nancy Fontaine said: "We see around 80-90 patients per day. It's why we have opened a dedicated emergency children's department as there is a growing need for emergency care for children."

The hospital is also working with an artist to create mural artwork for the department.

The new unit will be open from 8am-midnight seven days a week. Outside of these hours, children will be seen and treated in the main emergency department.

HAPPY COUPLE: Dennis and Silvia Thornton

Diamonds are forever as couple celebrate 60 years of marriage

A COUPLE who first met at an 18th birthday party will today (Thursday) celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary.

Dennis and Silvia Thornton, of Rundells, Harlow, were married in a village church near Dagenham on September 18, 1954 and spent their honeymoon on the Isle of Wight.

They moved to their present home in Harlow 24 years ago.

The couple have two daughters - Kim Jarvis and Tracey Bright - five grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

Mr Thornton, 84, who worked for an insurance company until his retirement, said: "We met at my wife's 18th birthday; a friend of mine who was related to her invited me.

"I wrote a letter to her the following week and she still has it. It was quite a brief letter and when she replied she commented on that."

Family and friends will be joining the couple to celebrate their 60 years of marriage.

"I have got a private room booked at the Lion Inn and our family, relatives and friends will be there with us to celebrate," said Mr Thornton.

When asked his secret to a happy marriage, he said: "It is about give and take. A lot of give and take is very important."

COMMUNITYNEWS

Pedal pals prepare for French adventure

TWO friends will be cycling 850 miles for charity - and along the way will following part of the Tour de France route.

Liz O'Hare, 55, of Longfield, Harlow, and Andy Sims, 50, of Great Brays, Harlow, will be undertaking the long-distance bike ride for disability charity Accuro.

The pair, who set off today (Thursday), will be joined by six other cyclists for the gruelling challenge which starts at Saint Malo and ends in Nice.

Liz, who has previously cycled from London to Paris and from Land's End to John O'Groats, said: "I enjoy cycling, especially long distance, and when the opportunity came up I couldn't resist."

"Andy works training young people in the kitchen and supports Accuro on trips out. My son, when he was at home, was also supported by the charity."

She added: "I'm looking forward to it but I'm a bit nervous as this ride will have more hills. I have problems with my back so will have to pace myself."

To sponsor Andy and Liz, visit www.accuro.org.uk.

Firefighter Stuart in training for a marathon quest

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

THE uncle of a little girl who was diagnosed with cancer as a toddler is planning to take on a marathon challenge for charity.

Firefighter Stuart Wilkins, 35, who grew up in Harlow, will be completing next year's Cambridge Boundary Run and the London and Edinburgh marathons.

He will be raising money for Children's Cancer and Leukaemia Group after his niece, Ava, was diagnosed with the disease.

The CCLG supported Ava's family while she underwent treatment and all the money Stuart raises will go towards the charity's work.

Stuart, who lives in Bishop's Stortford, is already training for the challenge on his rest days.

"Before I was comfortable with completing 10k in a fairly good time but that is just six miles," he said. "I've been running up to 18 miles a day and doing half-marathon races."

"I'm hoping I can raise £2,000."

Ava has been in remission for 18 months. Her mother, Kerry McCarthy, 32, of Felmongers, Harlow, said: "We can't thank CCLG enough. Ava's cancer was not straightforward and something the lead experts had not seen before."

"She was given such huge doses of chemotherapy and her little body is still on the path of recovery."

"Our whole family was affected by the journey that Ava had to take and as a family we wanted to give back and try and make a difference. That is why Stuart is running the marathons."

"Hopefully we can help find that cure and prevent anyone else's baby having to take this journey."

Stuart will also be hosting a Hallows'en event on Saturday, November 1 at the Our Lady of Fatima Church. There will be a children's party from 2-4pm and an adult's party from 8-11pm.

Tickets for the children's party are £3 each or two for £5 while adult tickets for the evening event are £7 and will be available on the door.

To sponsor Stuart visit his fundraising page at uk.virginmoneygiving.com/StuartWilkins83.

St Clare planning hospice open day

ST Clare Hospice will be holding an open day next month to raise awareness of the many services it provides.

The event, which takes place at the hospice in Hastingwood on Saturday, October 11, will include mini workshops including hand massages, how to manage someone's breathing and creative therapy. There will be also a chance to ask questions to a carer and a team of experts.

Everyone is welcome to the open day which will be held during Hospice Care Week - a national celebration of hospice care across the country.

St Clare's event takes place from 11am-3pm. For more information on the hospice and its open day, contact Karen Griffiths at St Clare at karen.griffiths@stclarehospice.org.uk.

Harlow sessions for blood donors

BLOOD donors are being urged to answer a call to arms.

The NHS Blood and Transplant services will be holding three sessions at Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way, Harlow, on October 2, October 16 and October 30.

The NHS relies on 7,000 people attending a donation session every day across England and North Wales.

Blood is required to treat patients for a range of reasons including accident and emergency situations, during surgery and in maternity and neonatal care.

Blood is also used as a treatment for cancer and blood disorders.

Residents can register as a donor or book an appointment to donate by visiting www.blood.co.uk or by calling 0300 1232 323.

Homes firm to hold a coffee fundraiser

OLD Harlow-based lettings agency Future Let will be taking part in the world's biggest coffee morning to raise cash for Macmillan Cancer Support.

The Market Street agency will be holding a coffee morning next Friday (September 26) and is asking residents to join in by donating cakes and taking part in the Future Let bake-off.

All the money raised will go towards Macmillan Cancer Support which last year raised more than £20m from coffee mornings held around the country.

Future Let's coffee morning takes place from 10.30am-1.30pm.

Lottery winners

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, September 12 was ticketholder 206580, who lives in Epping.

The rollover prize was not won and will go forward to tomorrow's (Friday) draw when it will be £4,000.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Bike bandits steal camera

POLICE have appealed for witnesses after three people riding bicycles stole a £300 camera from a man while he was walking on a cycle path in Harlow.

The robbery which happened between 6-6.30pm last Thursday on the track between between Third Avenue and Abercrombie Way.

The victim, a man in his 30s, was pushed to the ground by the trio who snatched a rucksack containing the Samsung camera from his shoulder.

The robbers are all white and about 20 years old. Anyone with information should contact DC Jo Lanz at Harlow CID on 101.

Front door set on fire

FIREFIGHTERS were called to a house in Spruce Hill, Harlow, in the early hours of Monday after an attempt was made to set fire to the front door.

By the time the crews arrived at 2am the fire was out. They alerted police who have started an investigation.

Anyone who was in the area at the time and saw suspicious activity should call Harlow Police on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Circus thrills in the park

AUDIENCES will be able to enjoy all the thrills of the Big Top in Harlow Town Park when Jay Miller's Circus opens tomorrow (Friday).

The circus will be in town until Wednesday. Admission prices are £14 for adults and £10 concessions (children/senior citizens). However, all seats for Monday's performances are £6.50.

Bus yobs leave charity with £1.2k repair bill

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

AN organisation that helps hundreds of community groups, charities and organisations in Harlow has had to fork out hundreds of pounds for repairs after its bus was vandalised.

Harlow Community Transport provides an affordable service for disability and non-profit organisations.

But last Sunday its specially adapted bus was targeted by vandals while it was parked at the Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way.

Two of the vehicle's windows were smashed, leaving HCT with a bill for £1,200 to repair the damage.

General manager Sam Stoppelcamp said he was saddened when he saw what had been done. "As the bus is a specially-adapted vehicle for wheelchair access the replacement glass cost £900," he said.

"The vehicle is used for the community by the community and to have this happen is very sad. This amount of money will take months of work to recoup.

"We subsidise the transport and run with volunteers to keep cost down but something like this means charges may have to go up."

He added: "The service is all about helping disabled and non-profit organisations get affordable transport. For example Harlow has support groups for Parkinson's, Age UK, Age Concern, vic-tics of stroke and others.

SADDENED: Sam Stoppelcamp beside the vandalised vehicle

"We also help social organisations which help groups of older people get out and most of the social housing areas in Harlow use us to one extent or another.

"They need wheelchair accessible vehicles that don't cost a fortune. We also help a large proportion of the primary and secondary schools with their transport needs."

Harlow Community Transport works with around 100 groups while 300 individuals rely on the services it provides.

Mr Stoppelcamp said: "A number of people lost out on transport because the vehicle was out of service. Harlow Community Transport is here to support the community and without us the independence of many people will be lost."

An Essex Police spokeswoman said: "We were alerted at around 2.45pm when witnesses spotted the van's windows had been smashed.

"It is believed that young children may have been responsible and or inquiries are continuing."

Drunk driver is jailed for attack on police officer

A MAN from Harlow who launched a brutal attack on a police officer as he was being arrested for drink-driving has been jailed for more than five years.

Tex Baker, 28, was sentenced to a total of 64 months in prison for causing grievous bodily harm with intent and for driving with excess alcohol. He was also disqualified from driving for two years.

Snaresbrook Crown Court was told police were called to a road accident in Chingford on Sunday, October 27 after reports that one of the drivers involved was drunk.

Shortly after arriving at the scene an officer requested urgent assistance from colleagues and several vehicles were dispatched.

The first two officers to arrive found their colleague covered in blood and facing Baker with his police baton drawn.

Witnesses said that while Baker was being arrested for drink driving he launched a sustained attack on the officer, head-butting him several times and punching him. He also managed to take the baton out of the officer's hand and struck him over the head with it.

Speaking after the case, Detective Chief Inspector Rob Plumb said: "Officers on the frontline routinely face danger, it's the nature of the job. However, to attack anyone in this way is a serious matter and this sentence shows the courts will not tolerate such despicable behaviour."

The personal touch gives Airdrome Cars the edge

AIRDROME Cars was established in 1996 by Stuart Dingle and started life from a unit on Harlow Common.

Stuart started the company after leaving the Darlington's dealership in Harlow where he worked for 10 years.

In 2009 Stuart moved the business to bigger units in the picturesque setting of Tile Gate at High Laver, near Harlow.

Stuart is a specialist in working with all models of Renault vehicles. He has recently been joined by Mick, his former colleague at Darlington's, who is a specialist in Honda and Skoda vehicles.

Airdrome takes on all makes and models and can carry out all types of work including servicing, clutch kits, timing belt kits, repairs, MoTs and fault diagnostics.

They pride themselves in offering good customer service and set themselves apart from the competition by offering a more personal touch to their customers.

One way they do this is by giving a free collection and delivery service.

From their great customer service they have built up a strong and trustworthy reputation. With happy customers returning time and again, they now have a large client base with some customers coming back to Airdrome for more than 17 years.

Why not give them a call on (01279) 518657 and try them for yourself? They have a name you can trust and offer a friendly, reliable and convenient service.

Their services extend through Harlow, Sheering, Ongar, North Weald and Sawbridgeworth – with their pick-up service available from any of these locations, either from your home or place of work.

Big bugs are a huge hit at eco-friendly fun day

TWO groups had cause to celebrate after being awarded £500 each during a family fun day promoting the importance of sustainability.

Phoenix Resource Centre at East Gate and the Herts and Essex Community Farm, which was started by Harlow resident Elliot Wollen, were among the organisations taking part in the Big Green Leaf showcase at the Queensgate Retail Park, in Edinburgh Way, on Saturday.

Visitors were given tokens to vote for who they felt deserved the £1,000 community award. The result was a tie and so the money was divided between the two winners.

During the event youngsters also had the chance to handle minibeasts and bugs, including a giant African snail and a millipede.

BIANCA CASTRO

Colourful characters including Walter Droplet, Bugella Burrows and Wormarie Compostulaire took charge of a number of eco-friendly activities on the theme of sustainability which encouraged visitors to care of the environment.

Jo Francis, head of retail property management for The Crown Estate which owns the Queensgate Retail Park, said: "It went down a storm and it was lovely to see so many families getting involved in all the environmental activities.

"The characters and creepy crawlies were a big hit with the children who learned all about the environment and how we can all adopt a greener or more sustainable approach in our day-to-day living."

She added: "Our congratulations go to the Phoenix Resource Centre and Herts and Essex Community Farm who deservedly won a share of The Big Green Leaf Community Award, which will help them continue to achieve their green goals.

"Overall, the event was a huge success and we hope families can go away and enforce some of what they have learned about making the world more eco-friendly."

Company newsletter tells stories of time

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

JOURNALS unearthed by a former Cossor employee tell stories of Harlow in the 1960s.

Engineer William Golding, 76, of Willowfield, started working for the electronics company - now Raytheon - back in 1962 and stayed for more than 30 years.

"I moved to Harlow in 1962," he said. "Before that I'd lived in Edmonton and Tottenham but I got married and we moved to Kingsland."

"I did electrical plating at Cossor. It started quite small, there were three of us then."

It was while he was looking through old papers that Mr Golding found copies of the company's staff magazine Cossor Link from 1962, 1966 and 1967.

All three included anecdotes, stories and plenty of photos of Cossor staff and company events as well as life in Harlow and the surrounding areas.

One issue featured these two photographs taken from the company's gala day, which was opened by Mrs Dukes.

Town helps Romanian youngsters

IN the early 1990s the kindhearted folk of Harlow showed their generosity by taking part in a town-wide initiative to help children and the elderly from a particular Romanian community.

Residents decided to help out the people of Panciu after hearing about their poorly equipped and staffed orphanage, hospital and home for the chronically sick where even a bar of soap was considered to be a luxury.

The appeal was launched by Harlow Council chairman Sid Warner in October 1990 and raised more than £6,000 in a year.

Potter Street resident Peggy Makepeace was named the driving force behind the appeal in a council newsletter.

Pictured above are some of the staff who worked in the post room at Longman and spent their spare time knitting squares for blankets which were eventually sent to the children in the Panciu orphanage.

The group also raised £100, which was doubled by the management.

AT A TIME WHEN ONLY THE VERY BEST SERVICE AND CARE WILL DO

Arts Council funding boost for Razed Roof

PERFORMANCE art group Razed Roof has received a £15,000 grant from Arts Council England.

The group for people with and without disabilities and learning difficulties will use the money to work with National Theatre playwright Judith Johnson on a new play.

It is not the first time Razed Roof, which is based at Harlow Playhouse, has worked with a successful playwright. In the past it has worked on scripts by several established playwrights including Alan Ayckbourn, Christian Martin, Philip Ridley, Lucinda Coxon, John Retallack and Anna Furse.

Ms Johnson, who has written for stage, radio and television, will be working with the company to develop and write a bespoke script.

The group's last production Flood was a massive success for the group. Essex Cultural Diversity Project funded a tour of the production to Ipswich and Thurrock where it was seen by Arts Council managers.

Razed Roof artistic director Annette Lidster said: "After they saw Flood we sensed the Arts Council managers were interested in our inclusive, ensemble approach to theatre. We are delighted that they recognise the potential of our company and want to encourage and enhance the quality work being performed."

"This grant allows us to work in partnership with Judith. It is a privilege and it's very exciting."

The new production will be based on a First World War centenary commemoration project based on the sinking of the ocean liner Lusitania in 1915. It was hit by a torpedo fired by a German U-boat. It will be performed next May.

Ambulance trust gets top marks in patient feedback

A SURVEY of patients using the ambulance service in Essex has returned a 100 per cent satisfaction score.

Of those who responded to the questionnaire for June, all said they were satisfied with the service they received while 97 per cent described the crews who attended to them as very professional.

People were also happy with the service provided by the 999 call handlers, with more than 96 per cent ranking their experience of dialling 999 as 'acceptable' or 'very acceptable'.

In addition, 96 per cent rated ambulance response times as 'fairly to very acceptable' while 93 per cent said their journey was fairly comfortable or better.

EEAST chief executive Anthony Marsh said: "We're delighted that the majority of patients are happy with the service we provide. This reflects the professionalism and dedication of our staff, who often have to work in the most challenging situations and environments."

Brother's death at heart of warning over gas leak danger

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW MP Robert Halfon has given his backing to a campaign to raise awareness of the dangers of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Mr Halfon joined local campaigner Melissa Matthews, one of a group of women known as the CO Angels who have lost someone special to the silent killer, for the start of the week-long campaign.

Ms Matthews' brother, Tony McRae, died at his flat in Harlow in 1999 after he put some bread under a faulty gas grill and then went to bed. He was 33.

"Carbon monoxide is a highly poisonous gas," she said. "As you can't see it, taste it or smell it, it can claim lives quickly with no warning."

Even exposure to low levels of the gas over a short amount of time can be lethal, causing long-term damage to health.

The gas is undetectable to the human senses and because symptoms are often mistaken for other ailments such as flu, food poisoning or a hangover its presence can go unnoticed until it is too late.

Symptoms include nausea, dizziness, breathlessness, headaches and loss of consciousness.

The only way to detect its presence is with an audible carbon monoxide alarm, similar to a smoke alarm, which detects the lowest levels of the gas and sounds an early warning.

"This Gas Safety Week I'm challenging residents of Harlow and surrounding areas to fit an audible carbon monoxide alarm before the clocks go back," said Ms Matthews.

Mr Halfon said: "Too many people continue to put themselves at risk of carbon monoxide poisoning by failing to ensure their appliances work safely and efficiently."

"I would like to thank Melissa for all of her work on this issue and I urge Harlow Council and all of the relevant local health authorities to help make Harlow a carbon monoxide awareness town."

"The more Harlow residents who understand the dangers of CO and how to protect themselves, the more lives will be saved."

RAISING THE ALARM: Melissa Matthews and Robert Halfon with David Reed, manager of the B&Q store in Harlow

David Reed, manager of the B&Q store in Harlow, said: "All of our staff here at B&Q are happy to offer help and advice to anyone looking to buy a carbon monoxide detector."

"We think this is a really great cause and are really impressed with the work that Melissa and the CO Angels have put into raising awareness of carbon monoxide poisoning."

Russell Krämer, chief executive for Gas Safe

Register, said: "Every year, far too many people suffer from preventable gas related accidents, such as gas leaks, explosions, fires and carbon monoxide poisoning."

"It's great therefore, that we've had so much support in raising awareness of gas safety issues, helping to let the 23 million gas consumers in the UK know about the simple checks they can make to stay safe."

A monster in a world of giants

IF you have seen any of the Jurassic Park films you will have some idea of how big dinosaurs were.

But even they were small compared to what is now believed to have been the largest dinosaur ever to have roamed the Earth.

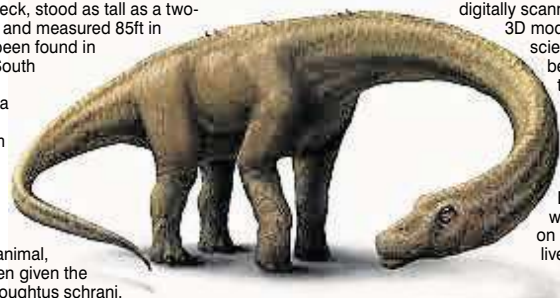

The remains of the huge creature, which had a 37-foot long neck, stood as tall as a two-story building and measured 85ft in length, have been found in Argentina in South America.

It has taken a team of scientists from the USA and Argentina a total of five years to uncover the bones of the animal, which has been given the name Dreadnoughtus schrani.

"It was astoundingly huge," said Professor Kenneth Lacovara, of Drexel University in Philadelphia. "It weighed as much as a dozen African elephants or more than seven T-Rex."

"It is by far the best example we have of any of the most giant creatures to ever walk the planet."

The bones are so large that they had to be digitally scanned to create a 3D model. However, scientists who have been studying the remains believe that when it died it was not fully grown. It is believed Dreadnoughtus, which survived on a diet of plants, lived about 77 million years ago.

NEWS*Smokers to get more help to quit during Stoptober

THE service responsible for helping people in Harlow to give up smoking is confident hundreds of people will quit the habit during this year's Stoptober campaign.

Community healthcare provider Anglian Community Enterprise, which runs the service in west Essex, has helped more than 27,000 people since 2003.

The Stoptober campaign encourages smokers to quit for 28 days during October, making them five times more likely to stop for good.

Anyone signing up between September 22 and October 31 will receive free nicotine replacement therapy from participating pharmacies plus full support from the team, which includes one-to-one sessions.

ACE smoking cessation co-ordinator Sue White said: "People shouldn't be put off if they've tried before and not succeeded. Most people have multiple attempts before they quit for good."

"Based on people's current smoking habits and smoking history, our stop smoking advisers will help people identify which stop smoking treatment will work best for them."

The ACE team will be manning stands in October and answering questions. Call the ACE NHS Stop Smoking Service team free on 0800 022 4524 for more information.

Car badly damaged by fire after boxes are set alight

POLICE have appealed for witnesses after a car was badly damaged by fire which spread after cardboard boxes were deliberately set alight.

The incident, which happened in Canons Brook, Harlow, around 5pm last Thursday, is being treated as arson.

According to police, flames from a number of boxes which were set on fire spread to the Ford Focus car, causing extensive damage to the front end of the vehicle.

They want to speak to a group of boys with pedal cycles, who alerted local residents to the fire and who may have seen something which will help with the investigation.

If you are one of the boys or have any information about the fire, call PC James Selwood at Harlow Police Station on the non-emergency 101 number.

Pothole repair teams continue blitz on county's main roads

THE number of potholes on main roads in Essex has fallen, according to latest figures.

Essex County Council has allocated an additional £17.5m funding for repair work and extra crews have been deployed on priority routes.

As a result, the number of potholes down from more 4,500 in June to 514.

Eddie Johnson, cabinet member for highways maintenance and small schemes, said: "It is the result of an ambitious programme of maintenance work that will continue beyond summer into the winter and beyond."

The extra crews will now turn their attention to fixing defects on the 700 worst local urban roads around the county by March of next year.

Six arrested after drugs raid on village business premises

TWO men from Harlow were among six people arrested on suspicion of being involved in the supply of drugs after police raided business premises in Nazeing on Friday.

One man was charged and appeared before magistrates in Chelmsford the following day accused of possessing 72 kilos of cannabis with intent to supply.

The other were released on police bail until November 26 while enquiries continue.

Investing in your future

With a £10.5 million investment in our Ware Campus, new partnerships with leading companies and amazing student successes, there really is no better time to see what Hertford Regional College (HRC) has to offer you.

The redevelopment at our Ware Campus to provide a brand new Creative Arts Centre is now well underway and is due to open in Autumn 2015.

The new development will be home to the departments of Creative Arts and Industries and Business and Computing. This will enable joint delivery of courses in Games Development, Web Development and Animation. Courses will be delivered in the most advanced and state-of-the-art facilities, including studios, workshops and galleries, that meet current and future industry needs.

Watch this space for new and exciting courses for 2015!

Professional Facilities & Industry Experts

Classrooms are great for theory-based courses. For vocational courses, such as BTECs, rather than studying these in a school classroom, students may benefit more through: working in HRC's professional-standard facilities that mirror workplaces, strong links with local and national employers and lecturers with a wealth of both teaching and industry experience.

Earlier this month Kelvin Hughes, a world leader in the design and supply of navigation and surveillance systems, announced the launch of its new Apprenticeship Academy which is being delivered in partnership with Hertford Regional College.

The Principal of Hertford Regional College, Andy Forbes commented: "This is a perfect example of the way we are now working directly in partnership with leading companies - such as Johnson Matthey, Kelvin Hughes and Glaxosmithkline - to help develop their future workforce."

Great Achievements

Chris Ford, BA (Hons) Marketing at the University of Hertfordshire: First Class Honours.

"When I started at HRC, the thought of getting a distinction was just a dream, let alone going on to achieve a first-class honours degree. It may sound clichéd, but my time at HRC ensured I could turn this dream into reality. The support I was given was imperative in helping me succeed at university. The tasks involved seemed daunting at first, but the high standards set by the tutors at HRC prepared me for what is expected at university level and ensured that I excelled."

Work Experience counts for a lot

Paul*, a Business student at the HRC Ware Campus tells his story: "When I didn't make the AS grades I needed at school, I was told they 'presumed' I would be leaving sixth form. I then came to HRC and my work experience placement (in the Marketing department of a building company) helped me to get a place studying Business Management at Surrey University."

College vs Sixth Form

Life at HRC gives students the chance to make lots of new friends and encourages them to learn independently; to ease young people into the world of work or university. Group and one-to-one tutorials ensure that students still get the individual support they need.

Consider all options

For many young people, staying on at sixth form and doing A Levels is the best thing for them and we wish them success. However, sixth form is not for everyone and it is important that all students are given accurate information and support in finding what is right for them.

At Hertford Regional College we have courses for all levels from Level 1 BTECs right up to Foundation Degrees. An Extended Diploma is worth three A Levels and is a good option for those that are interested in going on to university.

83% of our HRC students that applied to Higher Education secured a place. This is far higher than the national average of 11%.

Know your options.

www.hrc.ac.uk

Facts you need to know

- A Levels are not the only route to university; an Extended Diploma is equivalent to three A Levels. There are also other more cost effective routes to university, such as Foundation Degrees.
- Doing A Levels then going to university is not the only way to start a really successful career; with fierce competition in the job market, candidates can no longer rely on good grades alone. Recruitment selection is very often also based on work experience and employability skills.
- If you are under 18 and haven't got at least a C in Maths or English GCSE, you will need to continue to study these subjects. This could be at school, an academy, college or employment with training.

Having second thoughts?

Do you have a teenager who is still unsure about their decisions since finishing their GCSEs or AS Levels?

Or are you a teenager who felt staying at school was your only option?

Come along to our information & enrolment days on:

Saturday 20th September 10am - 2pm
Thursday 25th September 6.30pm - 8pm

Meet course tutors, ask questions, enrol, gain information on financial support and find out what the college has to offer. We still have a limited number of places for 2014 on courses in a range of subjects. There's still time to apply!

A BUSINESS specialising in stocking and selling a range of high quality engineering plastics is celebrating its 10th anniversary.

Staff and customers of MCP Engineering Plastics, which is based at the Kingstons Commercial Centre in Down Hall Road, Matching Green, celebrated the occasion at an anniversary dinner.

Managing director Paul Lee started the company from his home in 2004 after gaining 16 years of experience working for various well-established engineering plastics companies.

MCP initially specialised in the stocking and distributing of PTFE stock shapes but quickly moved on to selling other engineering plastics to meet customer demand.

Mr Lee said the company will be launching its own products for the building industry over the next couple of months as it has been offering its own unbranded products for the past five years.

"We are also in the process of extending our office to accommodate our growing team," he added.

"We started MCP 10 years ago with only two people. We now have 10 employees and have plans to grow MCP and double our turnover in the next three years."

Training provider adds new courses

TRADE Centre Training, based at Pinnacles in Harlow, has introduced courses to cover a range of new qualifications.

The centre, which runs training courses spanning a diverse range of industries, has added the electrical NVQ Level 3 JIB experienced worker course and the City & Guilds 1853 qualification NVQ Level 2/3 for the security alarm sector to its portfolio.

A spokesman for the centre said: "The centre is going from strength to strength and is carefully adding relevant and meaningful courses."

For more information on the centre or any of its courses, call (01279) 433321, email info@tctuk.com or visit www.tradecentretaining.com.

MP amazed as hundreds queue to take advantage of jobs showcase

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HUNDREDS of jobseekers headed for Harlow Leisurezone on Friday to seek advice and take advantage of the opportunities on offer at the town's third annual jobs fair.

The event was organised by Harlow MP Robert Halfon, who said he was amazed by the response as he welcomed the queue of people waiting in line for the doors to open.

"This is awesome," he said. "I am really happy. It has taken eight months to organise and it has all been done by volunteers. We have run everything from the office."

"If we can help one person get one job then all of the months of organisation is worth doing. It is a brilliant day for the people of Harlow and I hope to do a jobs fair as often as I can."

More than 86 companies and organisations signed up to take part in the fair.

Mr Halfon praised the support of Stansted Airport, Essex Chamber of Commerce, Seetec, Job Centre Plus, Harlow College, Ingeus, Harlow Leisurezone, McKenzie Arnold Security and Harlow and District Chamber of Commerce.

One firm looking to take on more recruits after successfully employing someone at last year's jobs fair was motor dealers Gates of Harlow.

Director Stuart Overs said: "We hired a trainee service receptionist and she is now qualified and still with us."

"We want more of the same from this fair. We find events like this extremely useful; it is good to support the local community and if we can recruit good people as a result then that's great."

James Fanthorpe, head of marketing communications at Seetec, said the fair was a good place for people looking for opportunities.

"We are here to help the people of Harlow find those opportunities," he said. "We already work closely with Robert and helped to set up the first jobs fair with him."

"For me, it's great to see so many employers coming together to showcase their businesses and see local people have the chance to make the most of those opportunities."

St Clare Hospice staff were also on hand to promote the Hastingwood-based hospice's vacancies as well as the hospice's new scratchcard.

HR manager Tim Page said: "There are multiple benefits with the jobs fair. It is good to help and support the local community as we are a local charity and we have some opportunities available."

"It's also a great chance for us to promote the hospice and everything that goes on there as there is so much going on. We have a whole range of things on offer at the hospice."

School councils are giving young people a small taste of government

"RUNNING for class president" is a staple of many US teen shows aired on British TV – where the ambitious pocket-Hillary, the junior Machiavelli, the chirpy geek and the dark-horse outsider vie for a place on their school's youth representation panel.

Over on our side of the pond, with as much or as little drama as the candidates desire, we have school councils, youth councils and Youth Parliaments to give pupils a hands-on introduction to the democratic process and its ramifications.

School councils exist in most schools across the country, both in the primary and secondary divisions.

A school council is a group of students who have volunteered, then been officially proposed and elected by their peers to sit on the council for the school year, term or however long their tenure is.

Often chosen as class representatives, or year reps, they are there to represent the views of the student body, and to make suggestions to, and raise issues with teachers and school governors. They can also outline and inaugurate projects on behalf of their peers, such as cultural events or different societies.

Often the school council is consulted – if not actively involved – regarding strategic planning and issues the school development plan and recruitment of new staff.

School councils aim to encourage young people to get involved in the actual running of the school – and campaigning, working out strategy and manifesto and presenting them all to the year group can build confidence and articulation.

An effective school council will help pupils to not just enjoy being in the school environment, but feel empowered within it, as the school listens to their opinions and needs and acts on them to help them feel that they are making their school a better place.

The councils give pupils a mouthpiece for their views, and getting involved provides a chance to develop life skills such as debate, listening and delegation.

Employing many of the skills and processes involved in school councils, but at a municipal level, there are also youth councils in most boroughs.

Across the UK, there are more than 600 youth councils providing a forum for young people of secondary school age to represent their views and the issues that represent them within their town as opposed to only their school.

There are a set number of seats on the youth councils, and candidates plan and run their own campaigns within their schools to get their peers to vote for them. The council organisers give guidelines to the candidates related to what they can and cannot do or within their drive for votes.

Generally coming under the umbrella of a local council and working with all levels of local government, they are run by young people for young people. Unaffiliated to any one political party, they nonetheless do make contact with different parties and groups, as well as MPs and Parliamentary candidates.

Youth councils meet to discuss relevant issues with local decision makers: as well as their own meetings, they often attend full council sessions and shadow individual ward councillors.

And finally, if young people want to take their democratic skills to a national level, there is the UK Youth Parliament – UKYP. Like the local youth councils, it's run by young people for young people, and it provides a national stage and wider opportunities for 11- to 18-year-olds to develop their voices, energy and passion and use them to bring about social change.

The UK Youth Parliament, which began in 2000, exists in 90 per cent of constituencies and has 600 elected MYPs (Members of Youth Parliament). The MYPs stand and are voted in in youth elections held every two years throughout the UK.

Any young person aged 11-18 can stand or vote – and it's estimated that more than half a million young people have voted in UK Youth Parliament elections.

Once in office, the MYPs organise events and projects related to young peoples' issues, and campaign and lobby decision makers on the same issues.

They have meetings and debates amongst themselves on a regular basis, and all the MYPs meet once a year at the UK Youth Parliament annual sitting, and their views and suggestions are published in the UK Youth Parliament.

Saint Nicholas School

PUPILS at Saint Nicholas School achieved excellent results in their GCSEs this year.

Overall, there was a 74 per cent pass rate for those recording at least five GCSEs including mathematics and English, which is a ten per cent rise on last year.

More than one in five examinations were graded A* or A, 48 per cent were graded at least a B, and more than a third of pupils gained ten or more A*-C grades.

Head teacher Keith Knight said: "I am delighted with the strength of our results across the key GCSE subjects, with the percentage of A*-C in the core subjects of English language 77 per cent, which is 62 per cent nationally, and mathematics 90 per cent, which is 62 per cent nationally."

"The approach of the school is to ensure that all pupils take a broad and balanced academic GCSE curriculum and not GCSE-equivalent qualifications."

"As a broadly non-selective entry school we are rightly proud of our pupils' successes, which are once more a tribute to our dedicated parents, staff and pupils who have a positive attitude to work and are prepared to give all that it takes to be successful."

Henham and Ugley

HENHAM and Ugley Primary and Nursery School is a busy, happy place set within the delightful village of Henham, within easy access of Takeley, Stansted and Bishop's Stortford.

With its consistent, caring ethos the school is proud to combine an engaging curriculum and excitement for learning with high standards of attainment, strong individual progress at all levels and a lively range of extra-curricular activities.

Music and sport feature strongly. The school was recently awarded the Gold 'Active Mark' for the second year running – the only school in Uttlesford to achieve this.

Throughout the school children show a confidence in taking responsibility, learning together with mutual respect.

Take the opportunity to visit on Wednesday, October 1 to see how everyone works together to ensure that learning is enjoyable, challenging and rewarding: with a keen focus on enabling all children to achieve their very best.

Edwinstree School

EDWINSTREE is a Church of England Middle School set in a beautiful expanse of playing fields in the medieval town of Buntingford.

This is an oversubscribed school and aims to blend moral and traditional values with innovation and forward thinking, to develop pupils into positive contributors to our future world.

The school is delighted to have been recognised by Ofsted as an 'outstanding school'.

This reflects the commitment from parents, the dedication of staff, the support of governors and the enthusiasm and diligence of pupils.

Edwinstree's greatest ambassadors are the pupils who will be delighted to give visitors a tour of the school at the open evening on Thursday, October 9 from 6.15pm to 8pm or at the open morning on Wednesday, October 15 from 10.30am -11.30am.

Simon Balle School

IN order to achieve the highest grades, students at Simon Balle School in Hertford are set challenging academic targets and given the inspiration to succeed.

Students benefit from a traditional curriculum coupled with numerous enrichment opportunities.

This is known as a forward-looking and innovative school although it still strives for traditional excellence. Students learn to embrace participation, challenge, perseverance and enquiry.

Relationships are outstanding, newcomers feel welcomed and deep lasting friendships are forged. Guiding and supporting both students and parents are key aspects of Simon Balle's work.

It is a very well-resourced school with many specialist classrooms as well as sophisticated ICT and digital technologies. There is a stimulating physical environment which is key to effective learning.

The school's values and sense of moral purpose is at the heart of everything. This is a responsible and responsive school which truly believes that there is no limit to learning.

Hockerill

IN March this year the Department for Education published performance tables which showed Hockerill as the top performing school for the English Baccalaureate, fifth for 5+ A-C and third for GCSE average point score.

Just last month the Daily Telegraph's league tables placed Hockerill as the top comprehensive for sixth form.

In the last few years Hockerill has been awarded Sunday Times IB School of the Year and became the first state boarding school to receive 'outstanding' in all categories under the new OFSTED 'no-notice' inspection.

Situated on a leafy campus in Bishop's Stortford, Hockerill is a strong, caring community of some 300 boarders and 500 day students offering the full range of subjects on the national curriculum supported by an extensive variety of extra-curricular clubs and activities. It has a particular focus on languages and music with both French/English and German/English bilingual sections.

Day places are free and boarding represents outstanding value for money. Boarders have the opportunity to experience a wonderful environment and to gain vital life skills.

Hockerill is placed in the top band for all key measures of progress and examinations used in Ofsted's Data Dashboard (www.dashboard.gov.uk).

Howe Green House

ACORNS Nursery and Howe Green House School looks forward to welcoming new headmistress, Mrs Debbie Mills, who takes over at the start of the new academic year.

With parents, staff and children involved in the recruitment process, the feeling is one of excitement as Mrs Mills prepares to take the school forward in the next stage of its development.

Acorns Nursery for two-year-olds, is a self-contained nursery running within the heart of this family orientated school. All staff are experienced and highly qualified.

This, coupled with a maximum number of 16 places per session, ensures that children receive an excellent level of care and education.

Howe Green House School caters for children from three to 11 years and consists of a number of beautifully appointed buildings which help to create the feeling of a small and friendly community in which children thrive.

In addition to the bright and airy classrooms, there is a Resource Centre housing a new ICT suite and library and a building dedicated to the teaching of art and CDT.

Add this to the varied array of musical and sporting opportunities on offer, and set in a lovely rural landscape just two miles from the centre of Bishop's Stortford, why not visit Howe Green House to see for yourself?

Helena Romanes School

THE Helena Romanes School and Sixth Form Centre is committed to providing students with a first-class educational experience.

It aims to work in partnership with parents and their children, valuing, encouraging and ensuring success within a climate of high expectations.

The school works hard to maintain focus on the individual student and their personal journey through the school.

The school is a centre of excellence in many fields, offering all who work and study the opportunity to succeed at the highest levels.

The school's passion for learning is best appreciated by visiting and meeting students, staff and governors.

There is an open morning on Saturday, October 4 from 9.30am to 1pm where there will be presentations by students and the head teacher.

Your child can participate in a range of activities in all subjects, and staff will be on hand to answer your questions.

Other occasions to visit the school include coffee mornings held throughout September and October.

These provide a chance to meet with the head teacher, discuss the school and to see it function on a normal day. Booking is essential.

St Joseph's In The Park

ST Joseph's In The Park is immensely proud of its reputation.

Traditional values, academic standards and innovative approaches to teaching and learning have defined the school over a history which stretches back to 1898.

Throughout the course of this history it has remained true to a simple core belief that happy children learn and, as a result, they are well prepared to be active and successful in their lives at senior schools and beyond.

The recent ISI inspection report bears out this belief and judged the school to be "excellent" in all areas. This is the highest possible accolade from the largest inspection body for independent schools.

The inspectors noted that "the pupils' achievement is excellent. It is underpinned by high quality teaching and a vibrant curriculum." In addition, the "pupils thrive in the school's atmosphere of hard work, enjoyment and effort".

You will get a sense of this and more when you visit St Joseph's In The Park.

Harlow College

HARLOW College offers a broad range of apprenticeships in many different industry sectors.

We pride ourselves on supplying high quality training, excellent facilities and expert tutors and staff.

Apprenticeships are a great way to gain qualifications and valuable work skills that employers want.

As an apprentice you will gain a mix of high quality learning, both on and off the job. You will be employed so you will earn a salary, get paid holiday and learn new skills to progress in your job.

Apprenticeships meet the new requirements for young people to stay in education (raising of the participation age) and are, therefore, suitable for those aged 16 and over.

So, if you've ever asked yourself any of these questions it could be just the right move for you:

- Would you rather learn in the workplace than the classroom?
- Have you just finished school or college and are looking for work?

- Maybe you've changed your mind about what you want to study?

- Are you looking to retrain for a different career?

Education 2014

Why curriculum days are an important part of the school programme

PARENTS of new secondary school students might have been mystified to see on their children's diaries, planners and newsletters advance notification of 'curriculum days' happening throughout the school year.

Curriculum days are basically off-timetable days when a particular year group will concentrate on a particular subject for the day. They are aimed at enhancement and enrichment of various subjects.

The extra funding available on curriculum days can allow schools to offer exciting and unique opportunities for everything from interactive workshops and outings to a chance to meet an author, local politician or business leader. They are an opportunity for educational outings, guest speakers and a range of activities that focus on the chosen subjects in a more in-depth way than can often be achieved in a regular classroom scenario.

School trips throughout the term can be seen as disruptive to lessons but if there is a day that everyone knows has the timetable suspended and time is set aside for activities such as museum visits and outward-bound activities, teachers can prepare for it and also provide the right staff-student ratio of supervision.

Curriculum days can also be an opportunity for the very oldest students at Key Stage 5 to visit universities and colleges on taster days or fact-finding trips.

Guest speakers, perhaps experts in particular fields such as drama or science, can be invited in to give talks or lead workshops. Authors often visit schools on curriculum days to talk about their own works, in particular and literature in general.

And when curriculum days, are given over to PE, they can also be an opportunity to host sports tournaments and training or for giving pupils the chance to try a new sport with more time devoted to it than a regular lesson period.

Teachers may also choose to turn a curriculum day into a theme day – for example, devote the day to different aspects of the environment. This can become cross-curricular and involve all the year groups as they pursue studies into the "green" side of all their school subjects.

Employment seminars can be fitted into curriculum days, especially for pupils in Year 10 and above. Local businesses can send representatives to talk to pupils about what they do and some pupils may approach them for work experience.

Following on from practical approaches to employment, the earmarked days can also host seminars and workshops on how to develop and use key learning and thinking skills that will serve pupils in the workplace – skills such as independent enquiry, teamwork, self management and creativity.

For GCSE students, curriculum days allow teachers to bring a specific focus onto a subject and complement GCSE module exams. The time can be spent making sure the group is up to speed on their work and provide a whole or half-day's worth of revision on essentials or a saturation session on specific exam techniques.

As well as being helpful for the basic needs of numeracy, literacy and IT, curriculum days can provide ways of boosting students' social and personal development. Team-building exercises and individual challenges could be used to achieve this end.

Curriculum days have allowed schools to provide stimulating experiences and in one day a term without the set framework of the lesson periods on the timetable and the lesson plans of the KS3 and GCSE curriculum content, departments can focus on activities which engender the life-long learning skills of independence, creativity and team work.

Birchwood High

BIRCHWOOD is a successful 11-19 mixed academy with 1,430 students on its roll.

The school is proud when students not only leave with strong academic qualifications but also as well-rounded individuals with a sense of responsibility and a willingness to contribute to both the economy and society in general.

At GCSE this year, 69 per cent of last year's 240 Year 11 students achieved 5+ A*-C including English and Maths. At Post 16, the majority of Year 11 students stay on for the sixth form where they study predominantly A-level subjects with intention to apply for a university place.

This year, all students passed their A-levels with 56 per cent of our students achieved A*-B grades - well above the national average of 44 per cent.

This meant that the majority of students got into their first choice university, many going to Russell Group institutions with a notable number studying science, mathematics and medicine.

In terms of admissions, this September saw 240 students enrol into Year 7 and Birchwood is over-subscribed (for September 2014, the school received 930 applications for 240 places).

The admission criteria is simple and transparent – priority being given to siblings and families living in and around the Bishop's Stortford area.

Birchwood High School has its own clear sense of direction and its drive to continually improve remains its single most important attribute.

Joyce Frankland Academy

SINCE 1588 Joyce Frankland Academy's core purpose has been to fully prepare young people for their life ahead.

Dame Joyce Frankland founded the school 426 years ago as the "free Grammar Schole of Newport" with a vision as relevant now as it was then - a vision pupils and staff are expected to aspire towards. Each pupil and every member of staff is at the core of that vision, where they work together for the common good or, as Dame Joyce Frankland put it, the common wealth.

Academic rigour and a traditional curriculum have always been the most integral part of what is on offer. The curriculum, with a heavy focus on the core subjects, is designed to give students a solid foundation on which they can grow, develop and flourish into outstanding human beings.

There is also a broad extended programme which provides students with the opportunities to study the humanities, ancient and modern languages, the arts, technologies and physical education. Indeed, the school is well renowned in many of these areas for extensive extracurricular provision.

In lessons the goal is to challenge every single pupil. The academy believes that the most effective learning occurs when students are pushed to solve challenges in creative ways. Lessons are taught in an environment where students feel confident in expressing their opinions and asking questions; the aim is to challenge and stretch every student to achieve their full potential.

In order for the academy to achieve its goals, co-operation, respect, support and high standards need to be demonstrated by all. The pastoral structure is designed to support every single pupil and provide them with the opportunities and tools necessary to forge their part in the legacy.

Forest Hall

ASPIRATIONS and high expectations, combined with a happy and safe environment are key drivers at the heart of Forest Hall School's ethos.

There is commitment to each student to have the opportunity to fulfil their potential with a 'can do' approach.

The size of the school enables staff to know every single person within the learning community and it is this which gives students the confidence to have a go and push themselves to do well.

The focus is on high quality teaching with an expectation that each student will take responsibility for their own learning.

Seeing is believing, so parents/carers are encouraged to join the head teacher on any Tuesday morning for a tour between now and half term or on open day/evening.

There is no need to book for the open day but please contact us if you wish to visit on a Tuesday morning by telephoning Mrs Williams, PA to the head teacher, on (01279) 813384.

Your stars with Patrick Arundell

to guide you through the week ahead

Aries 21 March - 20 April
Don't try to make difficult decisions early on this week Aries, as your mind will be much sharper as the days go by. Relationships with the important people in your life can blossom under the positive influence of the New Moon, while a stroke of good fortune could transform a key aspect of your life, and further freeing up your creative spirit in the process. Call for more advice...

Libra 24 September - 23 October
Avoid muddled thinking if you can, as getting clear on what you need to accomplish ensures a positive start to the week. However, you'll be in your element with a New Moon in your sign helping you take steps towards an important goal. Will you be lucky this week? The Jupiter Uranus link suggests it's more than possible Libra, so do believe. Call for more advice...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May
Pluto forges ahead from Tuesday, positively speeding up the pace of change regarding close relationships. Midweek then brings a chance to get started on a new diet or exercise routine, enabling you to feel reborn. Later, as Mercury glides into Scorpio, an in-depth conversation could spotlight opportunities you haven't previously considered. Call for more astral advice...

Scorpio 24 October - 22 November
Be sure something is worth buying as there's a good chance you could regret a purchase made in haste. Meanwhile, Pluto moves into forward motion which can aid and abet your best laid plans. On Thursday, the sparkling Jupiter Uranus connection comes to a head and will motivate you to forge ahead with a meaningful project or personal ambition. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
A conflict of interest may muddle issues early on, yet this can give way to spectacular opportunities later on. A romantic New Moon midweek can also help a new relationship to blossom or rekindle the flame in a long-term relationship. Whilst a Jupiter Uranus connection reveals that a new friend could inspire you to consider some highly positive changes. Call for more news and advice...

Sagittarius 23 November - 21 December
You may lose focus early on this week regarding a family matter. However, if you aren't sure how to tackle an ongoing issue, it might be best to ponder your options for now. Later in the week your social life can revive with a New Moon spotlighting opportunities to make other friends. Moving out of your comfort zone could result in a life enhancing offer. Call for more...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
Pluto zips forward from Tuesday, helping you make decisions concerning some of your most important relationships and encouraging you to forgive and forget if necessary. In addition, if you've been considering refurbishing your home, you can get some important green lights from midweek. Later, a coveted opportunity has a good chance of coming your way. Call for more...

Capricorn 22 December - 20 January
As Pluto goes into direct motion in your zodiac sign, success could become easier, especially if it seems you've been held back lately. This upbeat phase is amplified by a New Moon in your zone of goals and ambitions, making this one of the best times to shoot for the stars. There's also the potential for a small windfall or perhaps a lucky break. Call for your financial scope in full...

Leo 24 July - 23 August
This looks to be a week where a big hope may come true, or at least you'll have the chance to make it so. Be alert for opportunities; indeed be proactive, as good things can come your way as a result. The New Moon on Wednesday might be helpful for signing deals or co-operating on a plan. Later, valuable new insights could help to resolve a family matter. Call for more news...

Aquarius 21 January - 19 February
The week ahead brings sparkling opportunities associated with social events and everyday meetings. The New Moon midweek is excellent for getting involved in groups and clubs or for moving in lively circles. In addition, the Jupiter Uranus link can coincide with a meeting that might be a catalyst for future growth and expansion. Call for more news and astral advice...

Virgo 24 August - 23 September
A misunderstanding could delay a family project or decision, while getting everyone on the same page can hasten positive results. Yet, where finances are concerned a new start aided by the New Moon on September 24th, can increase your confidence for what the future holds. Meanwhile, it will pay to listen to any intuitive hunch that piques your curiosity. Call for more advice...

Pisces 20 February - 20 March
Listing your priorities can help you get more done while sidestepping any confusion. Meanwhile, with Pluto advancing from Tuesday, this can give your social life a positive boost. By the week's end a special alignment can help you make significant progress with work or financial matters, but you must be ready to grab what could turn out to be a golden opportunity. FRIDAY Tonight's headliners Penny Royal are a fiery Essex four-piece comprising Mitch Harrington, Stuart Ferguson, Chris Rose and Josh Ring. Influenced by the likes of BRMC, Oasis, Spiritualized, Stone Roses, The Verve and Primal Scream, their music is a melting pot of gritty Brit rock 'n' roll and melodic psych. Also on the bill are Kindred Shins and The Teamsters. Tickets are £5 in advance and doors open at 8pm.

SATURDAY Pout at the Devil are a fully authentic 1980s hair metal and classic rock tribute band whose setlist features anthems from the excessive golden era of hedonistic rock. Performing songs by Guns N Roses, Mötley Crüe, Van Halen, Kiss, Whitesnake, Poison and Bon Jovi, they do so with energy, fun and a healthy dose of tongue-in-cheek humour. The band's members grew up loving this particular genre of music which enables them to deliver the songs with passion and technical precision. Doors open at 8pm and admission is £5.

Kerry Ellis explains what it's really like to be a leading lady

SHE'S the West End girl all young aspiring musical theatre stars want to be, the glamorous leading lady with a powerful voice. Ahead of her show at Harlow Playhouse next month, Kerry Ellis - who has starred in hit West End shows including Wicked and Oliver! - gives an insight into what it's really like to be a dazzling diva in the spotlight.

There are hundreds of girls who would love to be West End stars. Why did it happen for you?

I don't know. I kind of pinch myself every time I get a new big show. I do feel very fortunate to do what I do.

Is your success down to dedication or luck?

I am very committed to what I do - my career and my craft. I have been for my entire life.

I have always put myself out there and created opportunity and made the most of everything I can. I don't know what the trick is though and if I did everybody would be doing it.

Can you make your own luck?

I think you can create opportunity but there is an essence of right place and right time. Essentially the jobs have to be out there and you have to be available at the same time the job is available and you have to be right for the part. There are a lot of variables that have to be in line.

However, you can work on your own voice and your own music. If people see you are out there, that can create opportunity.

Is the reality of working in the West End and on Broadway all you dreamed it to be?

It is amazing. It's an incredible privilege and I love it. I feel very blessed. It is a lot of hard work, especially a show like Wicked.

It's demanding vocally, physically and emotionally and it is hard. You have to spend time away from your family. It's not a 9-5 job; there are no weekends off.

Is it a glamorous life?

There are parts of it that are very glamorous and there are parts of it that are not so glamorous. Rubbing green off my ears on my way home is not so glamorous - and the lack of sleep. It is fantastic, though, and you get to perform in front of 2,000 people a day, and they all clap you at the end of your day's work.

How do you cope with being a new mum on tour?

My baby usually comes with me; he's been a bit of a touring baby. When I do

Wicked he will be at home with my in-laws, my husband or my parents.

I am fortunate to be able to do both. I know a lot of people have to choose whether to be a stay-at-home mum or go back to work.

What advice would you give to aspiring stage stars?

Take every opportunity that's given to you. I was asked a question by a fan: "Why do you do shows at the Albert Hall and then the Pheasantry in Chelsea, which holds 30 people? Why such extremes?" I think you should take all the opportunities you can.

I learn something new from every environment I work in. Always be working on your craft, pushing yourself and picking up different talents.

You've toured and made an album with Brian May and starred in the Queen musical We Will Rock You. Why do you two work together so well?

We are both very different. He comes from a complete rock background and I come from a show background. Yet essentially we have the same work ethic and we care about what we do.

What is interesting is that it is our differences that bring us together. We can do a musical song followed by a rock song and that's all OK. The diversity is what is interesting about us.

You've done all the major musical roles. Who would you still like to play?

I'd love to do something new. It's great to be around that initial stage of putting your stamp on a role. I think when you've done so many roles and you've made a bit of a name for yourself, you can't just take any job. The right job has to be out there and available. It does become tricky.

What made you want to step out alone and do this tour?

I did a show at the London Palladium in May and it was a bit of a one-off event. It had a big band, guests, a big choir and lots of new arrangements for songs that I have been doing through different shows. After the show people got excited and said: "Have you recorded it? Are you going to do it again?" And that's what spurred on the tour.

What can we expect on the night?

New arrangements of songs from shows I've been in and other songs. We get the audience involved and I tell stories. It's really laid back and fun.

>> Kerry Ellis will be performing at Harlow Playhouse on Wednesday, October 15. Tickets cost £19.50 and are available from the box office on (01279) 431945 or online at www.playhouseharlow.com.

We need to do more to protect our pollinators

WE know bees, hoverflies and other beneficial insects provide a welcome sight for gardeners in spring and summer, pollinating our flowers and helping us to reap rich harvests. But these valued species also need plenty of protection in the winter to ensure they return in years to come.

As part of Wild About Gardens Week, the Royal Horticultural Society and The Wildlife Trusts are urging people to do more to support the UK's vital pollinators during the cooler months.

RHS senior entomologist Andrew Salisbury said: "Pollinators and other invertebrates need sheltered places to spend the cold winter months. By being a little less tidy, particularly around the base of hedges and in garden borders, creating bug hotels and log piles, we can provide much-needed overwintering sites, giving pollinators a head start in the spring."

The two organisations have produced a winter survival guide for the UK's 1,500 species of pollinating insects. People with outside spaces are urged to:

Make an insect hotel or overwintering habitat. Insect hotels provide shelter and overwintering habitats for many pollinators. WAG week is featuring a 'build a bug hotel' competition to encourage gardeners, schools and community groups to get building and share photographs of their projects to inspire others to get involved. More details about the competition can be found at www.wildaboutgardensweek.org.uk/buildabughotel. Entries close on October 31.

Create log piles Some pollinating insects nest or overwinter in dead wood and many uncommon insects such as the stag beetle rely on it for a large part of their lifecycle. Half bury some logs, leave dead wood where it falls and keep tree stumps in place.

By Hannah Stephenson

Cut back on the cutting back. Instead of cutting flower borders back in late autumn, leave the dead stems all winter until early spring. The hollow stems of perennial plants provide shelter for overwintering insects.

Let your lawn grow. Leave a long patch over the winter. Resume mowing in early spring and it'll help many creatures hibernate.

Be considerate. Don't dispose of dandelions and nettles which are crucial for many pollinators and ensure your garden contains a wide range of plants, trees and shrubs that produce pollen and nectar resources throughout the year.

Autumn and winter nectar plants to consider include Spanish traveller's joy (Clematis cirrhosa), winter-flowering crocus (Crocus species), ivy (Hedera helix), Purpus honeysuckle (Lonicera x purpusii), Michaelmas daisy (Aster), perennial sunflower (Helianthus x laetiflorus), winter aconite (Eranthis hyemalis) and sweet box (Sarcococca confusa).

A recent study highlighted that 24 per cent of European bumblebee species are at risk of extinction and we have already lost 23 bee and flower-visiting wasp species in Britain.

Paul Wilkinson, The Wildlife Trusts' head of living landscape, says: "The provision of nectar-rich flowers combined with equal effort to restore and create home habitats - including food plants for caterpillars and undisturbed ground for hibernating bees - is a winning combination."

"Although the importance of bees is now widely recognised, let's also give credit to and raise awareness of our lesser-known pollinators including the peacock butterfly, hummingbird hawk moth and marmalade hoverfly.

"Ultimately, it's looking after the small stuff which helps to create a healthier bigger picture for wildlife and the natural environment. Collectively, our gardens make up the biggest nature reserve in the UK so let's make it the biggest and best it can be."

What to do in the garden this week

:: Empty hanging baskets and containers which are past their best to make way for winter and spring basket plantings.

:: Continue weeding regularly so that the weeds do not shed seeds which will remain in the soil over the winter.

:: Continue to harvest fruit and vegetables.

:: Don't let the soil around newly planted trees and shrubs dry out.

:: Mulch any areas of borders which have not been covered already and replenish old mulches.

:: Cut off or prune diseased leaves of plants so that overwintering spores won't survive until next year.

:: Continue to plant spring bulbs such as daffodils and crown imperial to give early colour.

:: Cover tender plants with cloches, netting or horticultural fleece to protect them from early frosts.

:: Check all ties and stakes of dahlias are secure.

:: Select new climbers and wall shrubs - garden centres usually have a wide choice in stock now.

:: Sow parsley and chervil in a sunny, well-drained spot. They should be ready by late winter or early spring.

Spicemaster on a mission to spread flavour

PACKING up the contents of his kitchen for a recent house move, former MasterChef winner Dhruv Baker found that his spice collection needed a cull.

"It was ridiculous," he confesses. "Like any person's spice cupboard, there were about four jars of cumin because you go to the supermarket and think 'Do I have any cumin? I'll just buy some more'. And probably five jars of coriander for the same reason."

Like the rest of us, Baker was also guilty of harbouring 'ancient' spices at the back of his shelves.

"It's usually mums who are the worst," he adds. "I've seen stuff from the Eighties. They don't taste of anything; you may as well add dust to your cooking."

Spices matter a lot to Baker, who was born in Mexico and has also lived in India, Spain and Tanzania.

He was described as having the palate of an angel when he picked up the MasterChef trophy in 2010 and has now published a book called Spice: Layers Of Flavour.

"The word spicy seems to have morphed into meaning something hot. It's doing food an injustice; to me, it means so much more," says the chef, who lives in Surrey with Glaswegian wife Aileen and their two sons aged six and three.

Among the spices Baker recommends we all have in our kitchen are star anise, whole coriander, fennel seed, chilli powder and turmeric.

"Hopefully the book will go some way to showing that spices are much more versatile and to look on them as ingredients in their own right," he adds.

The 38-year-old was "bored to Recipe of the week

BUTTERNUT SQUASH WITH RED ONION, FETA & CORIANDER (Serves six as a starter or four for lunch)

1tbsp coriander seeds
1 butternut squash, peeled, seeded and cut into 4cm cubes
3tbsp vegetable oil
2 sprigs fresh thyme
3 cloves garlic, unpeeled
1 red onion, finely sliced
150g feta, cubed
Juice of 1 lemon
50ml olive oil
Small bunch fresh coriander, roughly chopped
Salt and freshly ground black pepper

Preheat the oven to 180C (350F)/gas mark 4. In a small pan dry roast the coriander seeds over a low heat until they release their aromas. Allow to cool and then grind to a powder using a pestle and mortar or spice grinder.

Put the cubed butternut squash in a roasting tray with the vegetable oil and salt and pepper and toss to coat. Add the thyme sprigs and garlic cloves and cook in the oven for 20-25 minutes. After 10 minutes stir through the ground coriander seeds - don't add them right at the start as they can burn and become bitter. Remove from the oven and allow to cool slightly. Remove and discard the thyme sprigs and set half the garlic aside.

Mix together the red onion and cooked butternut squash, then carefully stir in the feta cubes taking care not to break up the cheese too much.

To make the dressing, squeeze half of the now softened garlic from the skins into a bowl and add the lemon juice and olive oil; whisk together. Pour the dressing over the butternut squash and scatter with the chopped coriander.

Baker has also become good friends with MasterChef's John Torode and the pair occasionally cook for each other. So does he still feel the pressure to impress the Australian judge?

"Every time he comes round and I'm cooking I get nervous. I shouldn't, but I do. I guess it's a good thing, it shows you care."

death" working in media sales before he entered MasterChef, which he says gave him "the most amazing opportunity, for which I'm eternally grateful".

Since winning, he's made TV appearances, set up a catering company and is working on taking over a pub in south-west London, serving "good, honest food that people want to eat".

"For the next six months I fully expect to be in the kitchen seven days a week and running both the catering side of things and the pub," he says.

It was MasterChef judge Gregg Wallace who Baker has to thank for his 'palate of an angel' moniker.

"Good old Gregg," he says with a smile. "That was completely overwhelming and very flattering; I should probably have had it put on a business card."

THE RIOT CLUB (15, 107 mins)

THE class war degenerates into foul-mouthed tirades and stomach-churning violence in Laura Wade's robust adaptation of her own stage play, Posh.

Originating at the Royal Court Theatre in London in 2010 and revived two years later in the West End, the play painted a vivid portrait of a fictional dining clique akin to the Bullingdon Club at Oxford University, which once included David Cameron, George Osborne and Boris Johnson among its ranks.

Retitled for its cinema release, the film packs a similar emotional wallop to its stagebound predecessor, detonating pent-up testosterone and tempers, with horrifying repercussions.

Alistair Ryle (Sam Claflin) arrives at Oxford hoping to emulate his older brother, a former president of the titular fraternity. This hush-hush 10-strong dining club honours the memory of its libidinous 18th century founder by boozing to excess at an annual dinner, trashing the venue and paying for the damage out of their trust funds.

Given his lineage, Alistair is almost certain to catch the eye of club president James Leighton-Masters (Freddie Fox). However, it is dashing classmate Miles Richards (Max Irons) from more humble stock, who steals Alistair's thunder and arouses the homosexual yearnings of influential club member Hugo Fraser-Tyrwhitt (Sam Reid).

Alistair and Miles pass initiation tests and are inducted into the ranks alongside Harry Villiers (Douglas Booth), Guy Bellingfield (Matthew Beard), Toby Maitland (Olly Alexander), Dimitri Mitropoulos (Ben Schnetzer) and George Balfour (Jack Farthing).

The students head to a country pub run by Chris (Gordon Brown) and his daughter Rachel (Jessica Brown Findlay), who have no idea of the devastation about to be wrought.

The Riot Club is

An invitation to join the posh boys club

a sobering attack on a culture of inherited privilege and power in Britain. Director Lone Scherfig's film dissects how our egalitarian society is founded on secret handshakes in wood-panelled rooms far from the madding electorate.

Wade has fleshed out key protagonists and excised some scenes entirely to reduce the running time by 40 minutes. There seems to be a greater emphasis on the fledgling romance between the most likable male character and a down-to-earth northern lass (Holliday Grainger), who is dazzled by the dreaming spires.

A climactic showdown is just as jaw-dropping in lurid cinematic close-up as it was from the safe distance of the theatre's upper circle.

The Riot Club is not a party most of us would wish to attend... but that's the point.

A WALK AMONG THE TOMBSTONES (15, 114mins)

LIAM Neeson continues to embrace his role as a grizzled action hero in this taut crime thriller adapted from Lawrence Sanders' novel of the same name.

When a shootout with robbers ends in tragedy, booze-sodden NYPD cop Matthew Scudder (Neeson) hangs up his badge and gets sober with the help of AA. He then re-invents himself as a private investigator. Fellow AA member Peter Kristo (Boyd Holbrook) approaches Matthew with a job. His brother Kenny (Dan Stevens) has just paid a ransom for the return of his kidnapped wife Carrie (Razane Jammal). However, her abductors have not only taken the money but also cut her up into tiny pieces.

Matthew agrees to help Kenny apprehend the sadistic perpetrators - Ray (David Harbour) and Albert (Adam David Thompson) - who are already scoping their next unsuspecting target. In the course of his inquiries Matthew meets wayward teenager TJ (Brian 'Astro' Bradley), who needs a father figure to offer him direction and keep him safe on the unforgiving streets of New York.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

WHEN looking to sell your home it's a common misconception that you should choose the agent that comes up with the highest price.

Although it might be flattering to hear your home is worth more than you might have estimated, there's a lot more to selling a place than simply handing it over to the person who is promising the most appealing price tag.

When selling, one of your key starting points is understanding what your home might be worth.

Although choosing a good local agent is key to this process (and some are so very much better than others), there are steps you can take before you visit their offices.

Zoopla is an easy place to start. It can give you a fair indication of what your home might be worth with just a few clicks of your mouse. This same property portal also has a useful 'find agents' section which is a good indicator as to which agents might deal with your type of home and price bracket.

It's also a good idea to take a look at how many properties similar to yours are currently on the market and for roughly how much.

Make sure you talk to more than one agent. Recommendation from friends helpful and, if you can, ask three to value your home and how they intend to market it.

From there see who you get on with and who you think could do the best job of selling your home.

Fair Wear and Tear

The terms 'fair wear and tear' appears on most tenancy agreements. But what is fair to a landlord and vice versa. In general terms it is usually understood that fair wear and tear means that in regard to any apparent damage done to part of a landlord's property, the landlord must take account of reasonable wear in the day to day usage of the property, and he/she must not expect over-compensation. Indeed, within reason, wear and tear is part of the cost of letting a property. In calculating any damages that do occur, the original age, quality and condition of any item at the commencement of the tenancy should be considered, along with the average expected useful life of the item, expected reasonable usage, number of occupants, and length of occupancy. There is certainly no legal right for a landlord to expect to have the property returned to him in the condition in which it was at the start of the tenancy, and the tenant's deposit should not be used to achieve this.

If, for example a table is damaged, it would not be reasonable for the tenant to replace this with a new table, but with a similar one in terms of age and condition to the one damaged before it was broken. If the damage is repairable then a good repair should be acceptable. A small stain on a carpet should only cost the amount charged to remove the stain, not the cost of entire replacement. However, if replacement is necessary, the cost should be apportioned according to the age and expected lifespan of the item, using the following formula, where:

A=Cost to Replace eg $300
B=Actual age of item eg 4 years
C=Expected Normal Lifespan eg 10 years
D=Residual Lifespan (C-B) 6 years
E=Annual Depreciation (A/C) $50
Apportionment to tenant (DxE) $180

Generally, tenants are much more respectful of a landlord's property than is often expected, although good vetting procedures at the outset help. But accidents do happen and this is where the term 'reasonable' can be very useful for landlord and tenant alike.

Simply electric

drive

www.harlowstar.co.uk

Forget what you think you know about electric cars because the Tesla Model S rewrites the rules. MATT KIMBERLEY reports.

This is a car built by a technology company so it conforms to expectations in very few ways other than having four wheels.

Try its two large boots on for size or its 300-mile range from its electric-only drivetrain and then prepare yourself for an almighty hit of electric torque that, up to 80mph or so, is beggars belief.

LOOKS & IMAGE

The Model S's looks are subjective, but in the flesh its proportions are nicely balanced.

The front lines could be sharper to this pair of eyes, but overall it strikes an impressive balance between aerodynamics and form with its optional 21-inch wheels.

It's certainly light years ahead of the gawky, ugly styling efforts you'll find on other electric cars.

Tesla has managed to acquire for itself an air of mystique, aided by its 'genius' founder Elon Musk.

There's always a huge amount of

Fact File

Tesla Model S
P85+

PRICE
From £68,700

ENGINE: AC electric motor
TRANSMISSION: Single-speed reducer gear
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 130mph
ECONOMY: n/a

curiosity and admiration surrounding this car, despite it being 'just' a five-door, comfortable family hatchback.

SPACE & PRACTICALITY

There are two boots – yes, two – with a huge combined luggage capacity.

The batteries and motors are out of the way beneath the floor of the passenger cell, so four people can go nuts when it comes to holiday packing.

There's a huge amount of room inside for people, too.

A seven-seater option is also available, using two rear-facing child-sized seats in the boot.

What's so great about this car's ability to carry so much is that with so much electric torque on hand, it simply brushes the weight off and saunters away down the road.

BEHIND THE WHEEL

The cabin is dominated by a huge central touch-screen, and since it's such a vast part of the experience – literally and figuratively – it's fortunate that it's both fast to respond and easy to use.

It might take a tutorial from a Tesla dealer to explain its full functionality, but it works a lot like a good tablet, with split-screen options where you can see energy usage, for example, next to media data or navigation.

There are two navigation systems: Google Maps and a backup Garmin system for when the car has no reliable 3G signal.

The on-board data services are free of charge for owners, too.

As for the driving experience, there's little to prepare you for the silent assault of the Model S's acceleration up to 80mph or so.

A low centre of gravity gives a good balance and the car corners well, too.

The only caveat is steering that feels too much like an old arcade game, frequently imprecise and removed from the experience.

VALUE FOR MONEY

Of course it's not cheap, but when you look at the tax advantages for business users and add them to the free charging deal, free Heathrow Airport parking and shuttle services, free in-car data services and more, value for money goes through the roof.

The fuel savings alone are potentially huge, so the Tesla makes a convincing case for itself.

WHO WOULD BUY ONE?

Early adopters are still prime targets, but business types are waking up to the exciting reality the Model S offers.

There's nothing else out there with a hatchback body, seven seats, two large boots, this sort of performance and negligible running costs, so anyone who wants to break the established rules should look this way.

Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Super Santosh sets new best

HARLOW Running Club member Santosh Kumar produced a personal best time (PB) for the distance at the Grunty Fen Half Marathon in Cambridgeshire, coming 164th out of 524 finishers in a superb one hour, 42 minutes and 52 seconds.

He was followed home by Paul Lee (293rd, 1:55.01), Faith Jackson-Lee (332nd, 1:57.59), both in their debut at the distance, and Sheila Leach (459th, 2:15.46 PB).

At the Ingatstone 5 Mile race, over a hilly course, Jamie Jephcott led the way for Harlow in 22nd out of 133 finishers in 32.24.

Behind him were John Tennant (37th, 3rd Vet 60, 34.16s), Colin Moody (64th, 38.05), Robin Lozeau (66th, 38.11), Janice Page (77th, 39.51), Martin McColgan (78th, 40.13), Dave Page (88th, 41.17), Debbie Barry (95th, 42.47), Jane Evans (102nd, 43.54), in her debut at the distance, and Vicky Calver (115th, 47.38 PB).

Brendon MacLean was 18th out of 55 finishers at the Nustable Downs Challenge, a 20-mile off-road trail run, in 3:15.39 and Holly Nairn was 48th in 4:03.24.

At the Gunpowder Parkrun 5K at Waltham Abbey, Jason Haigh came 13th out of 104 finishers in 21.16. He was followed in by Robin Lozeau (34th, 23.09), Spencer Brooks (36th, 23.34), Andy Kinney (63rd, 27.56), Pushpa Mistry (72nd, 28.59) and Laura Seaward (82nd, 30.33).

At the Chelmsford Parkrun 5K, Janice Page was 122nd out of 372 finishers in 24.34. Her husband David was 133rd (24.59), ahead of Justin Patten (167th, 25.49), Freya Turner-Porter (275th, 29.57), in her debut at the distance, and Laura Rideout (309th, 32.01). Other Parkrun results: Winchester: Richard Solomons (25th, 1st Vet 65, 21.25). Great Notley: Sharon Wright (18th, 22.36). Walsall: Susan Maloney (126th, 28.46). Tonbridge: Alan Wellbelove (157th, 30.39 PB).

Young athletes sign off in style

EIGHT Harlow primary school children signed off their track season by achieving seven personal bests (PB) at Watford on Sunday.

A headwind in the home straight made it difficult for the athletes.

St Nicholas School pupil Jacob Tofts (10) had a comfortable win in the Year 6 600m, with a PB of 2:03.2.

In the Year 5 race Tyler Jackson (9), from Churchgate Primary, was third in a PB of 2:00.3.

In the Year 6 girls' race, Fawbert and Barnard student Hollie McARDell came third in 2:06.3.

St Nicholas pupil Felix Tofts (8) triumphed in the long jump for Years 1 to 4, with a PB of 2.84m from a field of over 25 jumpers.

In the Year 1 to 4 400m, Anna

Coombes (9), from Fawbert and Barnard, ran 1:32.1 for 10th overall.

From the boys' race, Fawbert pupil Dylan White (9) ran a PB by five seconds in 1:23.2, placing third.

The U-13 girls' 800m saw St Nicholas pupil Georgina Handford (11) run a PB of 3:01.4 for eighth.

Two places back was Jessica Mossup (11), from Burnt Mill, in her very first race, clocking 3:10.9.

Olivia Corbett (12), from St Marks, the bronze medallist for West Essex Schools over 1500m, lowered her time of 6:01 to 5:51 in a mixed race, placing ninth.

Julia Sokolx (13), from St Marks, was one place behind in 5:55, also a PB and she too has improved tremendously since May.

Rams conquer Clacton in league opener

THE Rams made a positive start to the rugby season as they won 51-11 at newly-promoted Clacton in RFU London division three north east.

Clacton went ahead against the run of play through a seventh minute penalty awarded after Harlow were off-side at the ruck.

Harlow hit back immediately with a line-out catch and drive ending with Scott Whitby touching down his first first team try, which he converted for a 7-3 lead.

Good teamwork set up the Rams' second try on 11 minutes, scored by Rob Mackie and converted by Whitby.

Five minutes later, poor handling in the Harlow 22 led to an unconverted try for Clacton.

Harlow responded in the final 10 minutes of the half, with wing Keiran Gleason running in a try.

Whitby kicked the conversion and a penalty. Clacton also kicked a penalty and Harlow led 25-11 at half-time.

On 55 minutes, Rams lock Mark Twiner went over for Harlow's fourth try to secure the bonus point.

Three minutes later a beautifully weighted pass from Brown set up Gleason to run in his second try. Whitby converted for a 37-11 lead.

With Harlow in control their next try came after Will Grimley released Whitby to score and then convert.

The Harlow pack got back into the act with a powerful drive for Mark Bowering to touch down, and then, in the last minute, Dan Tremer slotted a penalty for the 51-11 win.

Mixed fortunes for Simms as Hawks draw with Grays

Grays Athletic ..... 2
Harlow Town ..... 2
(FA Cup, first qualifying round)

FABION Simms turned from hero to zero as Harlow Town drew at Ryman League premier division side Grays Athletic in the first qualifying round of the FA Cup.

The Hawks midfielder scored Harlow's second goal but was later sent off by referee Elliott Kaye after 76 minutes of Saturday's tie.

This was after he received two yellow cards with the second of them being for a challenge on Grays forward Jamie Guy.

Hawks boss Danny Chapman said: "There was no malice in the challenges by Fabion but they were both yellow card offences."

This followed Grays' player Aaron Best-Riley being sent off on 54 minutes after he had picked up two bookings.

Harlow, who play a division below Grays in the non-league pyramid, twice held the lead but on each occasion the hosts pegged them back.

Windy conditions made control difficult and early action saw Guy fire wide for the hosts.

The visitors went ahead in the 24th minute when a half-cleared corner fell to Layne Eadie on the edge of the box, and his shot dipped and swerved right past keeper Conor Gough.

Grays recovered their composure and equalised in the 40th minute.

A lovely piece of skill in the box saw

Guy twist and turn before sliding the ball home from close range.

The Hawks regained the lead on the stroke of half-time.

The home defence was stretched as a deep cross from the left from Eadie was nodded in by Simms at the back post.

Grays were more assertive after the break and they made it 2-2 on 50 minutes.

The goal came after a neat passing move which ended with Joao Carlos finishing from close range.

Hawks' Shane Stamp went off after 57 minutes with an ankle injury and he was replaced by Robbie Martin.

Both teams then went down to 10 but there were no more goals.

Chapman said: "We could have won it. We did have the lead twice."

"Their second goal came from a throw and it was our mistake and we paid for it."

He added: "We play at a level where we can get away with the odd mistake but the higher you go the more you get punished."

"I thought we played well for the first 75 minutes and we then let it go a bit."

HARLOW TOWN: Driscoll, Glasgow, Eadie (Toner 80), Urguhart, Cuthbert, Simms, Small, Cowley (Lorenzani 90), Read, Smith, Stamp (Martin 57). Subs not used: Hickman, Norton. Att 184.

Leopards begin life in Harlow with basketball win

TAKE AIM: David Ajumobi prepares to shoot during Sunday's game at Harlow

(S)

ESSEX Leopards made the perfect start to life at Harlow Leisure Zone with a 108-51 victory against Philippines Select on Sunday.

"It was a great start to life in Harlow," said the basketball side's general manager Dave Ryan.

"We had a decent crowd which gives us something to build on, and considering we've only been together as a team for a week, we looked good."

The result was never in doubt as the Big Cat scored the first 17 points of the game before the introduction of the second unit saw the visitors cut the lead to 25-11 at the first break.

The Philippines team were held to just two points in the first nine and half minutes of the second period as Leopards poured in 21 points of their own before Mike Mustre hit a three-pointer to make the half-time score 46-16.

Eleven unanswered points from the home side saw Leopards' lead grow to 60-18 before the visitors hit the final six points of the third period to cut the lead to 74-33 at the final break.

With three minutes remaining Leopards looked set to miss out on a century of points as they led 92-51, but Will Ashby exploded with four straight three-pointers in under two minutes to wrap up the win.

Courtney Van Beest and Ashby led the Big Cats' scoring with 19 points apiece with Ryan Wilson adding 16 and Dave Ajumobi and Byron Richards 13 apiece.

The Big Cats now have a home double at the Brentwood Centre at the weekend with London Lions visiting on Friday before Leopards face Barking Abbey in the National Cup first round on Sunday.

Title and family holiday target for boxer Horton

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW light-heavy-weight boxer Richard Horton says his targets are the Southern Area title – and a family holiday.

More than five years after his last fight, Horton made a winning return this summer and he's back in the ring again at the Camden Centre on Friday, October 10.

He's matched with Lincoln's capable Mitch Mitchell and the 32-year-old has spelled out what's driving him on to keep winning.

Horton says he's "desperate" to win the Southern Area title – and take wife Carla and their three children, Lily-May (11), Jamee-Leigh (7) and Charlie (5), on holiday.

He said: "The way I look at it, every opponent I face is trying to stop me taking my wife and children on holiday – and that's not going to happen."

"My children have never been abroad before and I want to see their faces

FISTS OF FURY: Richard Horton is gearing up for his next challenge when we're approaching the airport.

"That's why I'm doing all this."

"I'm a lucky man. My children are very well behaved and Carla is so good to me.

If it wasn't for her I would be eating takeaways!

"Carla deserves a holiday as well for everything she does for me."

Horton made an impressive return to the ring back in July.

He was matched against a formidable opponent in Ryan Clark – but was too sharp and won clearly on points over four rounds.

Horton hopes a win next month and another in December will lead to a crack at the Southern Area title that is currently held by Miles Shinkwin, from Bushey in Hertfordshire.

"If the next two fights go well I'm hoping to go for that next February," said Horton.

"That's the plan, but I'm not underestimating anyone."

"I know Mitch Mitchell always comes to win. He's like Ryan Clark and he gave me a tough fight."

"I've got to bring my 'A' game and if I box like I did last time and use my jab I should be OK."

"I would like to stop him. I'm not going to go looking for it. I know it's going to be tough. I want the tough fights so I'm ready when I box for titles."

"I'm desperate to win the Southern Area title. That's the goal and with the team I've got around me, I'm sure I will get there."

"My little boy Charlie is telling everyone: 'Daddy's a champion,' so I have to win the title now!"

Tickets for the show in Camden are available by calling 07720 271882.

WHAT A RACKET: Six-year-old Ashleigh Tomlin with her medal after a tournament win in London

Capital gains as Ashleigh secures first contest win

TENNIS

SIX-year-old tennis prodigy Ashleigh Tomlin is starting to make a name for herself.

The Harlow youngster recorded her first victory in a tournament in London, and is now targeting even greater success.

Ashleigh, of Moorfield, started playing tennis aged just three.

She now trains and plays at the David Lloyd Tennis Club in Enfield, North London.

She is currently playing mini red tennis in the eight and under section.

After starting competitions in January this year she won her first major tournament.

Competing in the Bishops Park Tennis Club in Fulham, West London, she played in a girls only tournament.

Put into a group of five, she lost her first match against Sophia Bassi 10-6.

However, she then went on to win the remaining three matches, beating Amalie Widdowson 10-4, Maia Jones 10-7 and Victoria Shoylekova 10-3.

Ashleigh finished second in the group which put her through to the semi-final stage, where she competed against a higher-ranked and slightly older player, Isla Doyle.

Ashleigh started well and was leading before Isla levelled at 5-5.

But Ashleigh found another gear and went on to triumph 10-6.

This put the Harlow youngster through to her first ever final, where she faced eight-year-old Sophia again.

The match was very even until Ashleigh served a wonderful ace, taking Sophia by surprise.

That gave Ashleigh a massive confidence boost and she went on to win 10-6.

In the eight months of competitions Ashleigh has come on massively and this showed also in the recent Essex County Closed tournament, where she finished fourth in the county.

Paringdon Lions roar to tournament win

PARINGDON Youth Lions U-9s were brimming with confidence heading into the new Mid-Herts Rural Minors League Emerald Division season – after defeating some top sides to triumph in a tournament.

The Harlow-based team played six games in the tournament at Welwyn Garden City before winning the final 2-0 to secure their first ever piece of silverware.

After progressing through group stages, the boys took on Ware Rangers Flamingo in the quarter-final.

This was their first experience of a quarter-final.

Paringdon were a little nervous to start with but soon settled down when Ross Pike turned and rifled a left-footed shot into the net.

Towards half-time Ware levelled with an amazing volley from the edge of the area which flew into a top corner.

No more goals were added in extra time and the game went to penalties.

The shoot-out was very tense but Abdul-Rahmann Kazeem, Logan Gallagher and Max Arnold were all successful from the spot as Paringdon Youth Lions went through after Kobi Roget pulled off a magnificent save diving to his left side.

Paringdon faced Knebworth Youth in a tense and gripping semi-final which finished goalless.

This was the second time these two teams played each other on the day with Knebworth coming out on top in the first group game 1-0.

Paringdon were determined to improve on this result and played extremely well and went close to snatching a winner near the end.

GREEN ARMY: The Paringdon Youth Lions U-9 team celebrate their cup win with coach Gregg Pike (s)

After extra-time the game went to penalties.

Freddie Corbett and Ross Pike netted for Paringdon, while a fantastic penalty save was made by Arnold before the winning penalty was scored by Kazeem.

In the final the Lions took on Potters Bar Crusaders Blues.

This was Paringdon's first appearance in a final and they grew in confidence before triumphing 2-0.

After a goalless first half, Paringdon took the lead when a fantastic through ball found Max Arnold and he slotted the ball into the bottom corner.

With the final drawing to a close the nerves and tension were eased as the ball was played wide, crossed in and, after bouncing around, Arnold pounced to slam home his second and Paringdon's second goal of the game.

Delighted coach Gregg Pike said: "I am so, so pleased and proud of the boys. As the tournament went on and the boys progressed, they kept on improving with every game and the final epitomised this."

"The boys train hard every week, are very dedicated and really try and want to develop as individuals as well as a team, they thoroughly deserve their trophy and it now sits in pride of place in the trophy cabinet at Paringdon Sports Club. Hopefully this is the first of many."

PARINGDON YOUTH LIONS: Ross Pike, Freddie Corbett, Max Arnold, Edward Sack, Kobi Roget, Reece Mandel, Logan Gallagher, Ben Seary, Abdul-Rahman Kazeem.

Harten to face the world's best teams

JO Harten has been named in the two England Netball squads for the upcoming autumn tour to Australia and New Zealand as well as the subsequent Fast 5 tournament in Auckland. The 25-year-old goal shooter and former St Marks School student is part of the England squad that will be facing the top two world ranking nations (Australia and New Zealand) in competitive action ahead of the Netball World Cup in Sydney next year.

England will face The Diamonds in Bendigo on October 19 and in Canberra on October 23. Another familiar opponent awaits across the Tasman Sea as the Silver Ferns provide the opposition for England in Rotorua and Palmerston North on October 28 and 31 respectively.

England will want to bounce back after the Commonwealth Games in Glasgow which saw them lose 49-48 to Australia in a group game and 35-34 to New Zealand in the semi-final.

Little over a week later the England Fives will be in action as the annual Fast 5 competition is once again held in New Zealand.

England rest will help Naomi as she eyes U-20 breakthrough

THE blow of having to miss out on an appearance at the English Schools Combined Events Championships this weekend will be softened if athlete Naomi Harryman uses the rest to benefit her as she steps up in class next season.

Despite being just 16, the Harlow Athletic Club member will be up against U-20s when she makes a huge jump in class when her indoor season begins in December.

The former St Mark's School student has enjoyed a phenomenal year, but it ended on a low when she was hit by a foot injury.

Despite the injury, she competed in the UK Sainsbury's School Games, representing the South East 12 days ago, and narrowly missed out on a long jump medal in spite of being hindered by the injury, which limited her ability to jump properly.

After medical advice she withdrew from the English Championships, which take place in Boston, Lincolnshire this weekend.

She was due to compete

LEAP OF FAITH: Naomi Harryman in action in the long jump (Pic: Kerigh Palmer)

in the heptathlon.

However, this will allow her extra time to rest as she recuperates from her injury, and is ready to make an impact at U-20 level next season.

Naomi has already represented England, and is tipped to follow in the footsteps of the likes of Olympic champions

Jessica Ennis-Hill and Denise Lewis.

She actually beat a points haul earlier this year, which was recorded by a 16-year-old Lewis, and this bodes very well for the future.

Naomi's mother Michelle explained: "She had medical advice and they advised her to pull out of the English Schools Championships. She's very disappointed.

"She has an injury to her foot and her back. They are saying this could be due to a growth spurt. The medics have told her to pull out."

Naomi is already ranked third in the U-20s age group.

"She is working on her strength for next year. It has been a really long season for her. She will rest now and step up her training in December and January for the indoor season."

Naomi is expected to compete in the heptathlon, long jump and triple jump next season.

She battled on at the Sainsbury's Games as she did not want to let anyone down, having been given the honour of representing the South East.

Her best jump was nearly 50cm below her personal best.

Despite this she only just missed out on a bronze medal, and was lying in third when rival Amy Williams leapt just 6cms further than her in her final jump.

Naomi's Harlow Athletic Club team-mate Will Marklew is gearing up for his appearance in the octathlon at the English Schools Combined Events Championships over two days at Boston, Lincolnshire.

The top four in this event will be chosen to represent England in an international meeting.

Hawks look to move on after FA Cup loss

Harlow Town ..... 2
Grays Athletic ..... 4
(FA Cup, first qualifying round replay)

DANNY Chapman was disappointed to see his Harlow Town team knocked out of the FA Cup by Grays Athletic on Tuesday but is leaving no stone unturned as he seeks to strengthen his squad for their Ryman League division one north campaign.

The Hawks manager would not drawn on the identities of the two players he is looking to bring in, but revealed that one can perform in central midfield or in central defence. He plays at the same non-league level as Harlow.

The other one is a right-back who can slot in at central defence and plays in the Ryman League premier division.

Chapman said: "I need the numbers to be up and to have some competition for places."

Forward Chinedu McKenzie and Danny Fry, who plays at right-back or in midfield, have left Harlow.

The Hawks boss explained: "Danny wanted regular football and I could not give him that. "Chinedu wanted to play more football which I can understand but he had the best forward in the league in front of him."

The Hawks boss was philosophical about Tuesday night's replay loss but proud of his team.

He said: "It is disappointing to lose. It would have been nice to have got through a few rounds and bring the club some money.

"We will move on. I thought we were the better side against Grays but individual errors cost us."

Former Colchester United and Canvey Island forward Jamie Guy put Grays ahead in the second minute.

"Grays came out of the traps really well and it was a good goal," said Chapman.

Alex Read, pictured left, equalised in the 23rd minute when he headed home a free-kick.

The visitors regained the lead in the 58th minute when Kenny Beaney converted a low cross.

Jordan Wilson curled in a shot to a top corner to make it 3-1 to Grays in the 69th minute.

On 75 minutes, Hawks keeper Dean Driscoll erred when he let in a Glen Little free-kick, which went between his legs as the hosts fell further behind.

Chapman said: "I do not know if Dean took his eye off the ball or lost concentration but he apologised for it."

Read fired in a 25-yard screamer in the 78th minute but there was no way back for Hawks against their visitors.

Chapman said that keeper Ed Thompson is recovering from his shoulder injury and might be available for Harlow's home league match against Dereham Town this Saturday.

Harlow then host Chatham Town in the league on Tuesday.

Martin and Helen Cornwall from Clavering began fostering in April 2013. After initially fostering younger children they recently started fostering an older asylum seeking child.

"We had initially discussed with our supervising social worker the general possibility of having an asylum seeker. Then one evening, just a few days before Christmas, we received a telephone call, a young man had just arrived from Albania - alone. Would we look after him? Of course we would! A young 15-year old with no family or friends - there was no decision to make.

"Thank heavens for Google translate! It really helped us to communicate, especially in the early days even if it wasn't perfect. We had to make sure about eating certain types of meat, he didn't need halal meat but didn't want to eat pork.

"This foster child has been relatively easy so far, a child that wants to go to school, to have an education and to get on in life! He is helpful and considerate. Up until now most of our placements have been babies or very young children so this has been a totally different ball game. It's going very well as each day we all learn more and more. You should have seen his face when we went into Tesco for the first time!

"In the seven months he has been with us so far he has come on in leaps and bounds. His English has improved, he has made friends at school, worked hard and the teachers have been very pleased with him. The person who started out very shy and quiet has turned into a boisterous outgoing teenager who can happily go out for the day, catching the train into London by himself."

Karen Hodges has been fostering with her husband Paul for four and a half years.

"I currently foster brothers who have been long term linked to my family. I also do respite care and I hope in future to foster babies who are being placed for adoption.

"I first became interested in fostering because my friend is a foster carer for children under five. I too wanted to foster but at the time I didn't have a big enough house. So when I moved in 2005 to a bigger house I thought that was my time to look into fostering, so I did.

"The assessment was interesting, involving all of the family. The training was good and gave me a really good insight into what you could expect.

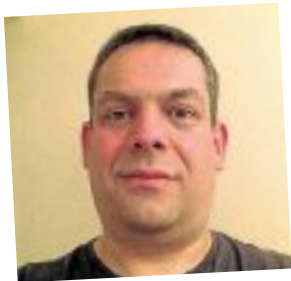

"The best thing about fostering is the change you see in the children from when they first arrive, especially if they are with you long term. It is rewarding, sometimes challenging, can be quite upsetting and emotionally draining at times but no one said it was going to be easy and the rewards are worth it in the end.

"Everyday something interesting happens with the children. Our family have a lot of banter. We are very much involved with the village youth football and we are all Spurs supporters except for one of the fostered children so you can imagine what it is like! We also have a great social life where the children are always involved.

"The support I get from the children's social worker and my social worker is always good and if they are not available there is always someone you can talk to.

"Fostering is the best thing that I have ever done and the positives always outweigh the negatives."

Colin Lane started fostering a year and a half ago. He is the main foster carer while his wife works outside of the home.

“We are approved to foster children from birth to 18. So far we have fostered children from age 10 to 16. One of the advantages of fostering older children is that they have more understanding of why they are in care and can be easier to reason with.

“Being a male foster carer did feel a bit strange at first. I was normally the only male carer at the training courses and at the monthly support group meetings. However, everyone makes you feel so welcome so that now I don’t even think about it. On the odd occasion I do even meet other male carers!

“Our own children are aged 22 and 20 and were both supportive of the idea when we told them we were thinking of fostering. Our second placement was a 15 year old boy. He and my son shared common interests so they got on really well from the start. My daughter had thought that we would be getting younger children and babies, so this was disappointing for her. However, we have since had a young girl in placement whom she got on really well with!

“The first time a foster child arrived at our home I was nervous but then so was the boy! He arrived with his social worker so they could give us all the information we needed to know. He was very chatty so it didn’t take long to get to know each other. We started off by showing him his bedroom. As he was a young child we put plenty of teddy bears and toys in there. For older children we tell them we will take them shopping for some posters to put on the wall to make it a little more personal.

“There is lots of training available from practical techniques for promoting good behaviour to basic first aid for children through to dealing with substance misuse. The next course I will be attending is about looking after asylum seeking children.

“If you are thinking about fostering come along to a recruitment event. Firstly, there is a very good presentation giving you an insight into fostering. Then a few current foster carers (including me!) will talk about their own experiences. You will get a very good overview of what is involved in fostering and at the end you can ask questions and talk to the foster carers and social workers.”
